Candidates battle as election nears

By The Associated Press

In an apparent reply to his Republican challenger, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has released a survey which he says shows Eagleton is the 13th most fiscally responsible of the 100 U.S. senators.

Eagleton, who faces former congressman Thomas B. Curtis in Tuesday's election, said the survey by the National Taxpayers Union "shows the meaninglessness of such broad-brush labels as 'liberal big-spender.'"

Vurtis has charged that Eagleton "has tried to shuck his liberal record ... by not leveling with the people" on his votes for federal spending, for busing and for gun control.

As the Senate campaign went into the home stretch, both candidates kept up a heavy schedule, with Eagleton planning news conferences today with Democratic candidate for state auditor, George Lehr, in St. Louis, Columbia, Kansas City and Springfield.

Curtis, who was endorsed by Americans for Constitutional Action Saturday, planned to hold his final news conference today in St. Louis, after stops in St. Joseph, Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield.

In addition to voting for a U.S. senator Tuesday, Missouri voters also will choose a state auditor, 10 U.S. congressmen and 180 state senators and representatives. Also on the ballot will be two constitutional amendments and a campaign financing reform proposition.

Curtis, 63, who served 18 years in Congress before losing a 1968 Senate bid to Eagleton, said last week inflation is the greatest issue in this year's campaign.

"Tom Eagleton, during his six years in the Senate, voted to add appropriations of $120 billion to the federal budget," Curtis said. "I believe in balancing the federal budget."

Eagleton, 44, said in a statement released today that "a reduction in government spending, while not the total cure for inflation, can have a beneficial effect on the rate of price increases and on interest rates. This has consistently been my position, as my colleagues and I on the Senate Appropriations Committee have cut $7.4 billion to date from the original administration budget request."

In the state auditor's race, Democrat Lehr is challenging Republican incumbent John Ashcroft. The low-key campaign has seen Lehr acknowledge that Ashcroft has done a good job as auditor, and Ashcroft concede that Lehr would do a good job if he were elected.

A victory by Ashcroft, 32, would help the Republican party maintain its momentum in the state and would be taken as an endorsement of Republican Gov. Christopher Bond's first two years in office.

A win by Lehr, 37, would help the Democrats in the 1976 campaigns for governor and other state offices.

In the state's 1st District, incumbent Democratic Rep. William L. Clay, 43, is challenged by real estate broker Arthur O. Martin, 55, and in the 2nd District, Rep. James Symington, 46, a Democrat seeking his fourth term, is opposed by Republican Howard C. Ohlendorf, 59.

Three women are seeking the 3rd District seat in Congress. Incumbent Democratic Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan is seeking to retain the seat she has held since 1952. Republican Jo Ann Raisch, 38, and Independent Marie S. Nowak, 54, are her challengers.

Incumbent 4th District Rep. William J. Randall, 65, a Democrat, faces Claude Patterson, 38, a school teacher and minister, and incumbent 5th District Rep. Richard Bolling, 58, is opposed by Republican John McDonough, 50, and Independent Edward Verburg, 76.

In the 6th District, Democratic Rep. Jerry Litton, 37, faces Republican Grover H. Speers, 51.

1 dies, 20 hurt in area wrecks

A Briar youth was killed and 20 persons were injured in nine area traffic accidents over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Kenneth Eugene Wheeler, 17, of the Briar community in Ripley County was killed in a one-car accident at 10:30 p.m. Friday on Route Y two and one-half miles north of Doniphan. His death raised the death toll on Southeast Missouri roads this year to 93, compared with 122 fatalities for the same period in 1973.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred when Wheeler's northbound pickup truck ran off the road at a high rate of speed and struck a tree.

Three passengers in the truck were seriously injured, including Sterling Wade Dunlap, 16, of Pine, Larry Donald Robinson, 17, of Doniphan and Steven John Nowak, 17, of Fairdealing. They were taken to Ripley County Memorial Hospital in Doniphan.

Three persons received serious injuries in a two-car accident at 6:05 p.m. Saturday on Highway 51 one mile north of Fagus.

The accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Willie Miles Mitchell, 74, of Dexter came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and collided with a northbound car driven by Barbara Ann Wright, 34, of Qulin.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Mitchell car, Anna Mitchell, 72, were injured. The Mitchells were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff. The Wright woman was taken to a hospital in Piggott, Ark.

Six East Prairie residents were injured in a two-car accident at 3:20 p.m. Saturday on Highway 105 one mile north of Charleston.

The accident occurred when a southbound pickup truck driven by Michael H. Presson, 20, of Charleston made a left turn in front of a southbound car driven by Curtis Keith Bright, 18, of East Prairie, and the Bright car struck the back of the Presson car.

Irene Dudley, 62, and Juanita Hoss, 57, and Pearl Bright, 84, received moderate injuries, and Gayle Scott, 19, Charla Dudley, 21, and Bright suffered minor injuries. All were passengers in the Bright car and all were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Larry Wayne Myers, 30, of Dexter Route One suffered minor injuries at 4 p.m. Saturday on Highway 60 near the junction of Highway 25 at Dexter when he lost control of a westbound motorcycle which overturned.

He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

John Allen Thurman, 18, of Perryville suffered minor injuries at 9:50 p.m. Saturday on Route A three miles east of Chaffee when his eastbound car ran off the road and struck an embankment.

He was taken to Chaffee General Hospital.

Andrew Cane, 45, of Essex received minor injuries at 12:15 a.m. Sunday on Highway 114 just west of the Sikeston city limits when his westbound pickup was struck in the left side by another vehicle, forcing his truck down an embankment where it overturned in a drainage ditch and pinned him in the vehicle. The identity of the driver of the other vehicle was not determined.

He was freed by the Sikeston Rescue Squad and the Sikeston police, then taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

James Earl Griffin, 18, of Fredericktown received minor injuries at 1:25 a.m. Saturday on Highway 67 one mile north of Fredericktown when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of a southbound car which ran off the road and struck a tree.

He was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

A Marquand man received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident at 2:45 a.m. Saturday on Route A two miles east of Cherokee Pass in Madison County.

The patrol reported the accident occurred when a car driven by William Horace Allen, 69, of Marquand was parked sideways in the middle of the road and was struck in the side by an eastbound car driven by Darrell Allen Lemons, 21, of Fredericktown, who did not see the Allen car due to heavy fog.

Allen was injured and taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital.

Three persons received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 9:35 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 55 at Brewer.

The accident occurred when a

Stoddard voters to mark 4 ballots

BLOOMFIELD-- Stoddard County voters will be handed four ballots when they go to the polls Tuesday to cast ballots in the general election.

In addition to the ballot containing the list of state and county Democratic and Republican candidates, voters will receive a ballot containing two constitutional amendments one listing a proposition and a judicial ballot.

Amendment No. 1, if approved, will bring Missouri's constitution into line with the federal law on 18- year- old voter rights. Amendment No. 2 would liberalize the voting majority needed to pass bond issues.

The proposition provides for a new campaign financing and election law.

The judicial ballot will determine if Judge William H. Billings of the Springfield Court of Appeals District will be retained in office.

No special county issues will be decided in this election.

Hearnes sees Wallace as 1976 contender

By RON JAYNES

Former Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Charleston said Friday that he believes Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace will seek the Democratic presidential nomination again in 1976, but would not commit himself to an endorsement of the unsuccessful 1972 candidate.

Hearnes discussed Wallace's chances with a Daily Standard reporter during the Scott County Democraticc rally Friday night at the American Legion hall.

"There'll be a punch of candidates," Hearnes predicted. "More than we ever had!"

Although not fully discounting Wallace's chances of winning the nomination, Hearnes said: "He'll (Wallace) have a great voice in determining the candidate."

Hearnes spoke highly of Wallace, whom he introduced as a speaker at recent Truman Day festivities in Poplar Bluff, where the Alabama governor made only his second personal appearance outside the state since being paralyzed by an assassin's bullet during the 1972 presidential campaign.

"Wallace's chance of obtaining the nomination would be better if he hadn't been shot and wasn't confined to a wheel chair", Hearnes said. "He still is able to deliver a lot of votes."

Hearnes noted that the delegates are not obligated to cast their votes as the poplar vote in their state indicates. "Right now Wallace is leading a voter poll with some 27 per cent, while the other possible candidates have something like about 17 --- but votes and delegates are two different things."

Asked about the possibility of Wallace settling for the vice presidential spot on the Democratic ticket, Hearnes said, "I don't think he would settle for second. He'd rather be governor of Alabama."

Hearnes discounted the possibility of a first ballot win for any candidate.

"I don't think the party has a leading candidate right now," Hearnes said.

Hearnes seemed skeptical about the possibility of becoming a candidate himself. Although he did not give a definite no to the question, Hearnes pointed out: "I have no practical way to raise funds to run such a campaign in other states. Most of your presidential candidates are

Eagleton calls for probe into sugar prices

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has called for a ccongressional investigation into soaring sugar prices, saying they're one of the greatest factors in escalating food prices.

In a letter to Sen. Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, Eagleton said the p roblem of rising sugar p rices is clearly beyond the scope of any existing federal agency to handle.

The Missouri Democrat released a statment from his re-election campaign headquarters here Saturday night, noting that the p rice of sugar has increased 246 per cent on world markets this year.

He applauded Atty. Gen. William Saxbe's Oct. 29 promise to launch a Justice Department anti-trust investigation into possible price fixing, but he pointed out that others have a different explanation for the soaring price of sugar.

"While the Justice Department is exploring possible antitrust aspects," Eagleton wrote, "the State Department thinks speculation by Arab countries might have something to do with it. The Agriculture Department, on the other hand, believes oor harvests and increased consumption are the principal causes, while Commerce Department figures suggest increased U.S. exports might be a contributing factor. There is even the explanation that the energy crisis is to blame."

He said only a congressional inquiry could get to the bottom of the problem and result in corrective action.

"The inflationary impact of these price increases goes far beyond sugar to affect just about every food p roduct on the grocery shelves," Eagleton said.

He noted that a five-pound bag of sugar sold for about 82 cents in October of last year and that the same amount is now selling for about $2.33

2 plead guilty to possessing illegal device

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Two men charged in a two-count federal indictment with illegal possession of a destructive device consisting of three sticks of dynamite tied together with a blasting cap and fuse, plead guilty today in Federal District Court.

Dale Michael Crump, 23, of Matthews Route One, and Roger Dale Scott, 24, of East Prairie, will be sentenced at 9 a.m. Nov. 25.

The two were arrested Nov. 10, 1973 in East Prairie by Norris Grissom then a Highway Patrol officer. Grissom arrested both men for driving while intoxicated and Scott for driving without a license.

Grissom says when he first saw the truck Scott was driving, but the two switched places before he stopped them.

He took the two to the Mississippi County Jail in Charleston and returned to the truck and found 11 loose sticks of dynamite, 31 blasting caps, and the three sticks tied together.

Crump later pleaded guilty to the driving while intoxicated charge and was fined. Scott was found guilty in a trial and was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

Sugar costs more and more

It might as well be money flowing out of a sugar bag. Sikeston's shoppers are finding the sweet tooth commodity selling at up to $2.37 for a five-pound bag and brown sugar keeping pace. In some stores, sugar is being offered at $1.39 with a $10 additional purchase. This time last year sugar could be purchased for about 60 to 70 cents for a five pound bag.

THE JUPITER JOLT

As though we didn't have enough things to worry us these days, along comes the news that now we will have to brace ourselves for the Jupiter Jolt. It seems that some astronomers at the National Space Agency (NASA) got to twirling their computers, and they discovered that sometime in the year 1982 all nine planets on the solar system, including planet earth, are going to be lined up in a row like birds on a telephone wire, on the same side of the sun at the same time.

Amateurs like most of us might tend to shrug off the occurrence as simply another rare, but interesting event; but the experts say that the Jupiter Jolt might prove to be disastrous. Although there is controversy as to exactly what will happen, all seem to be agreed that something will very definitely happen when the nine planets all start pulling in the same direction at the same time.

From the sun out, the lineup will be:, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. Of these, the planet Jupiter packs the biggest wallop. Eleven times the diameter of the earth, and spinning at a rate of 22,000 miles an hour (as against 1,000 miles an hour for earth), with tremendous gravitational power and boasting a powerful radioactive belt, the wrench and pull may be so great as to actually slow the earth's rate of speed through space. And if that happens, we are told, the tugs and strains on the surface of the globe can be such that massive earthquakes will occur.

Another prediction is that there will be an enormous increase in magnetic activity on the sun, which in turn will create huge "storms" of sunspots; and this, in turn, will greatly affect weather and wind patterns around earth, with totally unforeseen but undeniably great changes in winds and rains.

We think it wise that Senator Frank Moss of Utah has asked NASA Administrator, Dr. James Fletcher, if he can provide further information about the forthcoming Jupiter Jolt. To be forewarned is to be forearmed. In any event, better mark your calendar for 1982 as a time when almost anything is apt to happen ... and probably will.

Zillions for Zany Studies

Should the United States be spending $4 million of tazpayers' money to assist an international an international campaign to preserve Nubian archeological monuments that were flooded by the Aswan dam?

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia doesn't think so. That's why he is objecting to this item in the national budget and a number of other equally fatuous research projects funded by federal grants.

The Nubian monuments project is particularly galling since the Aswan dam was built with Soviet funds. But it is no more nonsensical than other research grants uncovered by Byrd, including: $39,300 for a study of the sex life of crabs; $350,000 for a study entitled "Trends in Tolerance of Nonconformity"; $50,300 for a Harvard University Study on "Unintentional Influence in Dyadic Interaction",; $11,200 for a study of Nineteenth Century American sepulchral sculpture; $11,790 forThe Growth of Karachi as a Trading Center and Development of the Sindhi Mercantile Community Under British Rule (1843-1947)."

How about a research project on the U.S budget to cull out all of these zany research projects? That would be worth the money.

DANGER IN POLITICAL QUACKERY

The medical profession has been accused of dragging its feet by opposing the more drastic health care proposals that would commit the U.S. to a master plan of health care dominated by government. Dr. Max H. Parrott, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, defines four weaknesses in such a plan that worry the medical profession.

In an article appearing in The Wall Street Journal, some months ago, Dr. Parrott specified these worries. Worry number one is the doctor's natural reluctance to apply a new system of health care broadly with no assurance that it will work. Doctors, by and large, are in favor if improving the existing "pluralistic system". In Dr. Parrott's words, they are"...concerned over the prospect of any sudden, single, massive, unevaluated experiment that would cast all 200 million Americans in the role of the guinea pig."

The second worry physicians have about radical government national health insurance plans focus on reservations nearly everyone shares concerning government's ability as a manager. Thirdly, they question that the American people will get proper health care if the national budget is to compete in the political arena against demands for new highways, interplanetary exploration and defense appropriations. Finally, physicians worry about the fact that medicine apparently is expected to cure health deficiencies that, at best, can only respond partially to medical programs. No medical program alone can clean up slums, curtail the devastating accident rate on our $80 billion interstate highway system, or curb the health problems associated with the affluent standards of living most of us "enjoy".

As individuals, we are ready to heed the advice of doctors in matters of health. As a nation, we are in danger of falling victim to political quackery.

WEAKENING THE FREE PRESS

An excellent example of the inherent inequity of government controls over the marketplace can be seen in the publishing business. Magazine and newspaper publishers are subject to Phase II guidelines but not the Postal Service which is free to raise postage rates to any level it deems necessary. In the second- class category, postal rates are slated to increase about 150 percent over five years. Third- class postal rate increases are following a similar trend. The net result of all this is that there is likely to be a gradual drying up of the flow of news and information upon which the public depends to arrive at fair and reasonable conclusions on important issues of the day.

If publications can be put out of business through postal rate increases, the question of censorship of the press becomes academic. There will be very little press to censor and the written word as an element of the right of free speech will steadily diminish in importance as insolvency thins the ranks of America's thousands of daily and weekly newspapers as well as the nation's magazines.

NO WINNERS IN THE MIRV RACE

Warm feelings and friendly toasts at the "summit" notwithstanding, the Soviet Union has decided to go the MIRV route.

Rather than stay with its present superiority in total number of missile launchers (currently some 2,330 to our 1,710) but accept eventual inferiority in number of deliverable warheads, Russia has decided to try to catch up with the U.S. lead in the development of "multiple, independently re- entry vehicles"- missiles that can carry two, four or six separately aimed warheads.

It is an ominous turn in the nuclear sweepstakes, the insane game that nobody can win. One can only speculate about whether the Kremlin would have taken the step had not the United States first elected to go for the MIRVs in order to offset the Soviet "advantage" in launchers. It can be argued that it is better to have them always trying to catch up with us instead of the other way around.

Yet this has been the story of the arms race from the beginning, even after it became obvious that both sides possessed enough nuclear power to destroy each other many times over, no matter who struck first.

Where does it end? What do we do when the Soviet Union achieves MIRV equality- try for Super- MIRV?

With the capability of destroying each other now, a capability that has existed for years and cannot be changed by any conceivable technological refinement by either side, will we ever reach a point where we can agree to call a halt to the multiplication of these grotesque engines of annihilation, if not actually begin dismantling them?

Or must history record- if anybody is around to record history- that the end of the arms race came only with the end of the human race?

In our parish we held a fund-rising project in which we typed cards bearing the Biblical message, "The Kingdom of God is like a grain of mustard seed." To the card, we attached a real seed, and sold each for 50cents, the proceeds going to church charities.

Recently, a lady who had purchased one of these cards wrote in to thank us. " I thought you might like to know that I planted the mustard seed," her letter said. "The result was a healthy plant, which is profusely producing tomatoes!"

A representative from Tennessee's state education department, addressing our county teachers' meeting, was lauding classroom television as an educational tool. A sea of blank stares told her that her audience was not with her. IN disbelief she said, "You do have TV, don't you?"

Terror in Portland

Portland, Ore., a thriving city in the great Northwest, is threatened with a massive blackout. The threat does not come from a fuel shortage. The architect of the blackout plan is an extortionist who is threatening to continue his deadly blasting of power transmission towers unless he is paid a million dollars by the power company. His explosives already have wrecked 11 of the big metal towers, and he is now threatening to put the city's water supply system out of commission if his demands are not met.

This savage attack on the people of a great metropolis is one more illustration of the crime problem faced by the U.S. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the police of Portland are making a supreme effort to catch the bomber. Presumably they will, but his devastating rampage already has left its mark. Crimes of violence must be reduced if we are to survive.

Once again it becomes evident that more resources must be thrown into the fight against the criminal. FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has said that he needs more agents and we agree with him. It is also evident that police forces across the nation must be expanded, both in manpower and equipment. The professional criminal should be apprehended and kept off the streets.

We urge that civic groups give police more support and that city fathers give their police departments whatever budget it takes to get the job done. To lose the war on the home front against the criminal would be just as tragic as losing the battle against a foreign invader. HLH

Leary Sees the Light

WASHINGTON -- Dr. Timonty Leary, the erstwhile high priest of psychedilics who once urged everyone to "turn on, tune in, drop out" on LSD, has had a dramatic change of heart. It was the Watergate scandal, he told a California grand jury, that made him see the light.

"I think if Watergate hadn't happened, I probably wouldn't be here today," he solemnly swore. Then, in his new ole as reformer, he accused his former attorney, George Chula, of smuggling drugs to him in prison.

The Los Angeles attorney has denied the charge. He has also pleaded not guilty an in indictment on different charges.

According to Leary's secret, sealed testimony, he insisted to the grand jury that he wasn't angry at his former lawyer. "He is a very pleasant, jolly person," Leary said. "It would be hard for anyone to be angry at him"

But after watching the Watergate drama unfold, Leary felt a compulsion to tell all. "I feeel a certain responsibility for ending what I think is a coverup, he testified.

He spoke of "two-ply lawyers" who "encourage and sponsor activities which are illegal" and then "defend people with whom they have been collaborating and cooperating."

He added, with a ring of righteousness: "I think that we are at a time now in this country when everybody has to tell the truth."

This was strange testimony coming from the former pied piper of the drug cult, the way-out Harvard psychology professor, who preached the heavens of hallucination and wound up in jail on marijuana charges.

In a spectacular jailbreak allegedly engineered by the Weasthermen, Leary escaped from a California prison and fled to Algeria. He later flew to Afghanistan with a jetsetter named Joanna Harcourt-Smith. But he was turned over to U.S. authorities who brought him home under guard.

The repenant Leary told the grand jury that he had broken with his past. "I do not intend to take any illegal drugs," he vowed. Then he launched into a colorful tale of how his attorney twice had slipped him small lumps of hashish to eat.

The first time was in the courthouse. He had become irritated with Chula for prating before the TV cameras and had asked the bailiffs to arrange a room for a private lawyer-client conversation.

"After I blew up and spoke forcefully to him, Mr. Chula reached down and pulled up his pant leg and, out of his stocking, he produced a piece of hashish and he handed it to me," related Leary.

"And what did you do with it?" asked Los Angeles District Attorney Art Koelle.

"I took it and I ate it," said Leary.

"All right," said Koelle, "when you say you put it in your mouth and ate it, did you just chew it up and swallow it, is that how you consumed it?"

"Yes," agreed Leary. ,,I chewed it. It was too large to swallow."

"Do you recall how it tasted, or how hashish tastes?"

"Yes ...," Leary paused. "It is like trying to describe the flavor of chocolate; they don't have words for it. But I would say that it is kind of an acrid, a dark, semibitter resinous, oily taste."

"After consuming it," asked the DA, "did you have any effects from it at all?"

"The effect of the hashish," said Leary, "was to get me over my anger so that I felt euphoric. I felt a feeling of happiness and nothing mattered, and I was no longer angry with Mr. Chula. It is a feeling like a philosophic detachment; it will all be over in a hundred years and no reason to get upset about it."

On the other occasion, .Leary was seated across from Chula in the Orange County jail, with a guard watching through a glass window.

"Some time in the first few minutes of the interview," Leary testified, "George Chula handed over a piece of hashish to me ... This alarmed me very much because I knew that the guard was sitting in the glass booth observing waht was going on. So I kind of froze and I imagine my face must have registered concern.

"And Mr. Chula, who was sitting there, could look over my shoulder and could see the guard booth, said, 'It is all right.' So I put the hashish in my mouth and chewed it and swallowed it."

Timothy Leary, his blonde hair now graying, his Irish smile turning stern, said this was he last time he had touched the vile drug. Reflecting on the past, he said: "It has been kind of a Robin Hood adventure."

ELECTION ODDS: Oddsmaker Jimmy the Greek Snyder, who figures the political odds exclusively for us, offers these election-eve odds on the key races:

-- California: Democrat Edmund Brown Jr., 5-to-1 favorite over his Republican rival for Governor, Houston Flourney.

-- Colorado: Democrat Gary Hart, favored 3-to-1 to unseat Sen. Peter Dominick.

-- Kansas: Republican Sen. Robert Dole, a slight, 6-to-5 favorite over his Democratic challenger, Bill Roy.

-- Kentucky: Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford, favored 2-to-1 to unseat Sen. Marlow Cook.

-- Missouri: Democratic Sen. Tom Eagleton, an overwhelming 5-to-1 favorite to keep his seat.

-- Nevada: In another close one, Republican Paul Laxalt is favored 6-to-5 to defeat Harry Reid for the Senate.

--New York: Republican Sen. Jacob Javits favored 5-to-2 to beat off Ramsey Clark's challenge for the Senate.

Jimmy the Greek predicts that the Democrats will gain 30 House seats, 3 Senate seats and five state houses.

Inside Labor

Victor Riesel

Redistribution of Wealth? Few Aware of Labor's Own Global Militant "International"

WASHINGTON -- Marxists and their global "internationals" are of many kinds -- some brutal, some gentle, but Socialists nonetheless, intent on Socialist domination and reorganization of both sides of the iron and bamboo curtains.

On our side of the world stage this just isn't understood. There is little comprehension of the role of the Socialists. Recently, in London, for example, I wandered through the House of Lords, with a lord, a Socialist lord. Until a year or so ago, he was the powerful leader of Britain's ruling trade union movement. It was all so pleasant amid the enormous oil paintings and memorabilia of the English Parliament's vast halls.

I asked my friend, the lord, if his Labor Party was seriously considering turning Britain into a Socialist nation. He chuckled. "Of course, sure, sure," he responded smiling tolerantly as he turned to describe the mammoth painting of a historic naval battle.

It's the sheer charm of these British Socialists which makes it so difficult to strip away the cultured trappings of their rhetoric and get down to what they plan to do to their society and its industrial plant -- with which the United States is so intricately interwovern.

Yet, rarely have the plans of British labor and Socialists, and their International, been so crucial to the U. S. than now in our ravine-edged inflation economy. If Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government, needled by its veteran left-wing militants, really goes Socialist, I believe it willl bankrupt itself and hurl much of the West's economy over the cliff.

They are serious. An analysis of their documents, which have just been made available in full, reveals a methodical plan for nationalizing industries in which America has heavy interest, financial ad otherwise.

There are plans too for the "redistribution of wealth." In a speech written for Her Majesty by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Queen Elizabeth told Parliament the other day, "A measure will e brought before you for the introduction of a tax on capital transfers. My Ministers will propose the establishment of a Select Committee to examine the form which a wealth tax might take."

And this means far more than wealth a la Rockefeller. British Socialists think of "wealth" in terms of assets worth some $25,000 and more. In America this would include, soon enough, some of those West Coast carpenters and Southern pipe fitters on an annual basis.

But that's just for starters. There's the energetic Tony Benn, nee Anthony Wedgwood Benn (who fought against being known as a hereditary lord). He is Britain's Secretary of State for Industry. Sort of an American Secretary of Commerce. He has his eye on 10 Downing Street. Wants to be Prime Minister some day. And he believes the swiftest way to get there is to socialize Britain beginning with all major industries. And he has put it all on paper.

One road to such socialism is through something which will be called the National Enterprise Board (NEB) when and if it is created by Parliament. In effect, this Board would be able to control industry by a series of cooperative planning operations. The government, with the help of the big unions, would advise corporations on how to produce, and where, and what, and how to finance themselves, etc.

Such "planning agreements" between the NEB (which of course would be manned by Socialists) and British industry, would cover "major and strategic firms in key sectors of manufacturing industry and selected other industries including the British holdings of multinationals." This means many American corporations.

Further, the NEB would have the power to "start new ventures and participate in joint ventures with companies in the private sector." Obviously, all of this means that the full power of the government could be swung against any corporation which refuses to accept a "planning partnership" and that the government could go into direct competition with any privately owned firm. Or clobber recalcitrant industiralists with many weapons, including taxation and withholding of permits, loans and subsidies.

Thus, though the first new nationalization moves will come in the shipbuilding and aircraft fields , the rest of British industry merely will be waiting in line.

And as Britain goes, so will a score of other nations whose leaders are officials of the Socialist International (known decades ago as the Socialist and Labor International). Their power as Socialist or Labor Party leaders lies squarely on their trade union base -- for money, for manpower, for election machinery and as was so dramatically and traumatically displayed in Britain recently, on the ability to paralyze all industry. The coal diggers virtually did that during their strike which forced the U.K. into a three-day work week for lack of fuel and electric power.

Prime Minister Wilson is a vice chairman of the Socialist International. During the last conference of the International leaders, there were high officials from 26 governments, including 10 prime ministers, one national president, five cabinet ministers and one former prime minister. They were Harold Wilson's guests. They are democrats, but Socialist democrats and they want to create a Socialist world. That's their answer to inflation.

They are Social democrats but are not `opposed to economic dictatorship which isn't our way of life.

Farrow critical of Burlison remarks

DONIPHAN — Truman Farrow, of Jackson, Republican candidate for Congress from the 10th Congressional District, lashed out Saturday night at a statement by Congressman Bill D. Burlison that Burlison does not maintain a home in the district.

Burlison allegedly made the statement at a forum at Jefferson College last Thursday. Farrow made his statements at a Republican rally in Doniphan.

Farrow quoted Burlison as saying he moved his family to Washington because "That is where my work is." Burlison was quoted as saying most congressmen maintained three homes, one in the Washington area, one on the beach and one in their district.

"But I don't travel in that circle," Burlison reportedly said. "I'm too poor. I am poorer now than when I was first elected six years ago. The reason I don't maintain a home in the district nor any personal property is that I simply cannot afford it."

"So," Farrow said, "we have it from the Congressman's own mouth, witnessed by about 200 people."

"It is a disgusting slap at the intelligence of the people to think they would believe he was poorer now than when elected to a job that pays a whopping $42,500 per year," Farrow said.

Scott County contains 21,050 potential voters

Will the events connected with the Nixon administration result in more Scott County voters going to the polls Tuesday because of their increased concern over the political process;

Or will more than the usual number stay away because of a feeling of disenchantment and frustration with politics in general?

No one can be sure what will happen. What is known, fairly accurately, is the number of eligible voters in the local area and in every other community across the country and how many of them have voted, if at all, in other years.

The picture has been brought u to date by the Department of Commerce, through a state-by-state study, just released, giving its estimates of the current voting age population.

In Scott County, now that persons who are 18 years old and over are leigible, some 21,050 local residents, equivalent to 63.2 per cent of the population, may qualify.

This compares with 65.6 per cent in the United States as a whole and with approximately 66.7 per cent in the State of Missouri.

Contrary to expectations, despite the fact that the 26th Amendment made it possible for over 11 million 18, 19 and 20-year-olds to vote for the first time in 1972, only 5.3 million of them, 48 per cent, did so.

What their turnout will be this year, for a non-presidential election, is anyone's guess.

As for the entire electorate, young and old, the Commerce Department states it has reached 145 million, an increase of 20 million since 1970, the last comparable year.

Since 1962, it finds, there has been an overall decline in voter participation in non-presidential elections. In the South, however, a growing percentage of the population has been voting.

How much jumping, from one political party to another, will there be this year; While there is no sure guide to what will happen, especially this year, some important light was shed on that subject in a study conducted some time ago by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center.

It found that once a voter makes his choice of a political party, usually before age 30, he generally sticks to it for life. Only one out of five switches thereafter.

Luis Ocana of Spain won the 1973 Tour de France bicycle race by finishing ahead of Bernard Thevenet of France by 15 minutes and 51 seconds, The World Almanac says. The 3,840 kilometer (about 2,100 miles) race lasted 23 days, and was completed in Paris on July 22.

Wyatt couple honored on 45th wedding anniversary

WY ATT — Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brown of Wyatt celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Oct. 26 with a dinner at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown of Wyatt.

The affair was hosted by the couple's children and grandchildren.

Cake, ice cream and punch were served later in the evening by the couple's daughters-in-law, Dianne Brown, Betty Brown and Gennave Brown.

At wit's end

By Erma Bombeck

A pre-schooler who lives down the street was ccurious about grandparents. It occurred to me that to a child, grandparents appear like an apparition with no explanation, no job description, and few credentials. They just seem to go with the territory.

This column, then, is for the little folks who wonder what a grandparent is.

A grandparent can always be counted on to buy all of your cookies, flower seeds, all-purpose greeting cards, transparent tape, paring knives, peanut brittle, and ten chances on a pony. (Also a box of taffy when they have dentures.)

A grandparent helps you with the dishes when it is your night.

A grandparent will sit through a Greek comedy for three hours to watch her grandson and wonder how Aristophanes has time to write plays when he is married to Jackie Onassis.

A grandparent is the only baby sitter who doesn't charge more after midnight -- or anything before midnight.

A grandparent buys you gifts your mother says you don't need.

A grandparent arrives three hours early for your baptism, your graduation, and your wedding because he or she wants a seat where he or she can see everything.

A grandparent pretends he doesn't know who you are on Halloween.

A grandparent loves you when you're a bald baby to a bald fahter and all the hair in between.

A grandparent will put a sweater on you when she is cold, feed you when she is hungry and put you to bed when she is tired.

A grandparent will brag on you when you get a typing pin that 80 other girls got.

A grandparent will frame a picture of your hand that you traced and put it in her Mediterranean living room.

A grandparent will accept your calls from anywhere -- collect.

A grandparent will help you with your buttons,your zippers and your shoelaces and not be in any hurry for you to grow up.

When you're a baby, a grandparnet will check to see if you are crying when you are sound asleep.

When a grandchild says, "Grandma, how come you don't have any children;" a grandparent holds back the tears.

Ann Landers

Hysterectomy has nothing to do with auntie's belching

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's aunt lives with us. We have two children, 12 and 13 years of age. I should consider this a delicate problem but since Auntie doesn't, I'll go right ahead -- the way she does. It's her loud belching. She can be heard all over the house.

At the dinner table it's really disgusting. She doesn't even say, "Pardon me." Our children have started to imitate her and now they are competing with one another to see who can belch the loudest. When I correct them they say, "Auntie does it."

Last week I decided to stop hinting. I came right out and told Auntie how my husband and I felt about her loud belching. She claims she can't help it, that it's the result of her hysterectomy. If this is true we will try to be more tolerant. Check it out, will you please? -- Undone Katy

Dear Katy: Auntie's hysterectomy has nothing to do with her belching. If she believes she has a physical problem she ought to go to a doctor and find out what it is.

Reegardless, the woman should attempt to lower the decibel rating of her belching, as a matter of courtesy.

As for your children, if you can't put an end to their crude behavior now, they are out of control and I feel sorry for you. The worst is yet to come.

Dear Ann Landers: The husband who signed himself "Hungry" was right on target. But he left a lot of territory uncovered.

Those immaculate housekeepers who expend all their energy polishing and waxing floors and starching the kitchen curtains until long after midnight aren't the only ones who are losing out. Add to the list the double-domed intellectual who reads literary classics, atomic energy manuals, books on economics and international relations. She ought to be smart enough to know that there ain't where it's at at 2:00 a.m.

I don't need a sexpot, either. Just a woman who knows what time it is. Sign my letter -- Hungry II

Dear Hungry: Sometimes it helps if you buy her a nice watch. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in the hope that you can print this before my parents split. Here's the story:

Mom is the third in a family of five children. She was always the one who had to do all the dirty work. She was also the one who was least loved. Now that Grandma is very sick, Mom is the one who visits her every day in the hospital. She is also the one who goes to Grandpa's place and cooks and cleans and does his laundry.

These daily visits to the hospital and to Grandpa's infuriate my father. Grandma is practically a vegetable. She doesn't know anybody and it can't matter to her if Mom comes or not. Daddy just can't seem to get this through her head. He says she is proving by her actions that she cares more about her parents than she cares about her husband and children.

They argue about this all the time and I'm afraid of what might happen. Any advice? -- B.K.S.

I hope your dad will see that this has nothing to do with him or you children. It's a highly neurotic pattern of behavior and not an uncommon one. Your mom feels that she MUST do this, and no one can change her mind.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Big Inflation. Big oil. Big government. A big crisis in confidence. . . .

U.S. Senator Tom Eagleton is working to curb inflation by holding down government spending. He's fighting big oil, its unconscionable profits, and its $25 billion a year in increased prices to consumers. He's working to restrain big government — to keep it from intruding into the rights and privacy of citizens. And, most important, he's responsive to the people of Missouri. Tom Eagleton gets things done.

EAGLETON-LEHR

George Lehr is the most qualified candidate ever for Missouri State Auditor. He brings 11 years of experience in government — most recently as Jackson County Executive — and 13 years as a professional Certified Public Accountant to his candidacy. George Lehr made the new Jackson County government work. As State Auditor, he will make state government work more efficiently and economically. George Lehr will get things done.

5 mayors discuss community projects

HOWARDVILLE — Five black mayors from small southeast Missouri communities gathered here Thursday night to exchange information and discuss community development projects. Attending were Mayor David Humes, Hayti Heights, . Mayor Willie B. Hamilton, Howardville Mayor T. L. Clark, North Lilbourn; Mayor J. W. Shavers, Homestown; and Mayor Lomie Lane, Wilson City.

Chairman David Humes said the Southern Black Mayors Conference was requesting information for a demonstration water project. He requested that the mayors fill out the forms that they had received as soon as possible.

Mayor Shavers was critical of the short time that was alloted to complete the forms and that he had not received enough information from the Southern Black Mayors Conference. Also discussed was the possibility of approaching the Office of .Minority Business Enterprises in Washington, D.C., for funds to start minority businesses.

Chairman Humes told he Mayors that Ed Taylor, community development specialist from Lincoln University in Jefferson City, wished to meet with them. He said Taylor wanted to discuss the possibility of the mayors applying for funds under the Community Development Act of 1974. A meeting will be arranged with Taylor.

The Mayors discussed asking the state for a non-profit charter so the Bootheel Mayors Association can be incorporated.

Mayor Hamilton idscussed Howardville's pre-application to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for $120,000 to build a multi-purpose community center. The pre-application is presently being reviewed at the regional EDA office in Denver, Colo. Hamilton said Howardville will be able to hire three city employes to work for six mnths. They will be paid by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act, which falls underthe jurisdiction of the State Manpower Planning Office in .Jefferson City. Hamilton said they would hire a clerk, laborer and sewer line inspector.

According to Deputy Sheriff Willis "Bo" Wingo, Rooker is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 145 pounds, has long red hair and a goatee beard.

New patrolman joins city force

He is married and has two children.

3 charged with possession

CHAFFEE — Three men, arrested Thursday at two Chaffee apartments following tips by informants, have been charged with possession of a controlled substance and are being held in the Scott County jail at Benton.

Charged are Elmer Penrose, 22, of Chaffee and David Steffan, 28, and George Mannon, 25, of Charleston. A fourth person, who was an informant in the arrest of the two Charleston men, has also been charged with possession of a controlled substance but has been released on $25,000 bond.

The arrests came following a three-week investigation by the Chaffee police department, Chief James Coats said.

Police received a tip from a reliable informant Thursday morning that some drugs were to be sold at a local apartment.

After obtaining a search warrant from Magistrate Lloyd Briggs, CHIEF Coats, three city police officers, Scott County Deputies Dave Sanders and Jack Stewart and Prosecuting Attorney James Moore went to an upstairs apartment at 201 W. Parker and presented the warrant to Penrose.

A search uncovered 100 LSD tablets and approximately 50 THC tablets in the apartment.

After arresting Penrose, police got a tip from another informant that another shipment was coming in to an apartment, which police did not identify, at 4 p.m. Coats and the prosecuting attorney hid in a bedroom of the apartment, while Sanders and the informant waited in the living room.

At approximately 4:10, Steffan and Mannon came to the door and were let in by the informant. After the door was locked behind the man, Sanders told them who he was and placed them under arrest. He found 100 LSD tablets on Steffan during a search.

Desegregation plan deadline set in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston school committee faces a Dec. 16 deadline to come up with a final desegregation plan involving "all grades in all schools in all parts of the city."

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., who imposed the initial integration plan for Boston's schools, set the deadline Thursday in a new court order.

The order came as schools went through a quiet day and as Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered a two-thirds cutback in the number of National Guard troops called up three weeks ago because of violence associated with busing for integration.

Under Garrity's original integration ruling, some 18,000 of the system's 92,000 students were bused.

But the judge said the new plan should minimize busing and "minimize the reassignment of students who were reassigned for September, 1974." The new plan would take effect next September.

Planners should "endeavor to avoid burdening more black and other minority students than white students by transportation, school closings and other measures," he said.

Under the current plan, about 8,500 white students and 9,700 blacks are bused.

The judge's order makes the city eligible for at least $500,000 in federal school aid.

A school official said Thursday was a "very quiet and normal day," with attendance at 77 per cent. He said 14 students were suspended at various schools for "name-calling and some shoving."

West Coast menswear has style of its own

All of the styles exhibited illustrated the elan and freedom of Pacific-area designers, who impart a distinctive verve to their clothes while remaining within the current fashion trends — many of which they originate.

The suits and sport coats, for example, held to the shaped two-button models but are individualized by unusual detailings applied to the collars, lapels and pockets. Their squarish, "forward pitch" shoulders originated on the West Coast and are hallmarks of this area's clothes. Colors are in pastel shades — linen tones, whites and off-whites. In many cases buttons utilize metals, horn, wood and enamel. Western-type suits and sport coats worn by oilmen and ranchers appear with trimmed yokes, pointed pocket flaps and fancy backs.

Easy suits, the casual clothes that have taken the nation by storm, were among the most important styles shown and they came in three basic types: The short blouson or battle jackets, the C.P.O. outershirts and the safaris.

Outerwear stamped with Pacific Coast styling was very well represented and much emphasis was placed on smooth and sueded leather-look and leather tailored into trench coats, shirts, safaris and stockman's coats.

T-shirts, now well established in the fashion firmament, are a California forte and they were shown in a rainbow of colors decorated with an eye-popping array of prints.

Of course the things to wear with T-shirts are jeans. And these wildly popular pants are getting their fashion due. The newest models have saddle seats. They fit snugly at the thigh and flare out to the bottom of the leg.

The slacks shown were generally classic in concert with Western pockets. Most were in polyester double-knits.

Swim wear collections ranged from coordinate top-and-bottom pool suits to basketball model trunks, brief bikinis and a new minimal racing trunk knitted of bright, shiny nylon.

Merick promoted

CATRON - Cadet Tom Merick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Merick, Route One, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Missouri Military Academy in Mexico, Mo.

The promotion was announced by Lt. Col. John B. Starke, commandant of cadets. Promotions were granted for scholastic, athletic and leadership progress in the MMA cadet corps.

Cotton trading increases

HAYTI — Trading increased slightly on local Missouri cotton markets last week, according to Paul W. Karban, officer in charge of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Hayti Classing Office who said demand strengthened somewhat and prices were higher.

Farmers sold a small volume of cotton in mixed lots containing mostly 41 and higher grades, with 35 and longer staples going at 41 to 42.5 cents per pound. Prices averaged about two cents a pound higher than the previous week's.

The majority of cotton moving through market channels was delivered on contracts made prior to the season. Farmers continued to reject most offers to buy their recent ginnings at the current level of prices and were holding the bulk of their free cotton. Ginyard prices for cottonseed were steady and averaged $123 per ton.

The harvest was delayed throughout most of the week by rainy weather. Most gins were caught up with ginning by the weekend. Farmers have completed picking over the first time at most locations and were beginning the second picking.

The Agricultural Marketing Service's Hayti Classing Office had classed a season's total of 130,000 samples for farmers through Friday. This compares with 94,000 classed through Nov. 1 last year.

Samples classed at the office during the week ended Oct. 25 was about unchanged in grade but averaged slightly longer in stample than the previous week's classings. Grade 41 still accounted for the highest percentage of classings last week at 57 per cent. Grade 31 was the next highest at 15 per cent. Both these percentages were about the same as the previous week.

Seventy-six per cent of the samples stapled 35, compared to 78 per cent a week earlier; and 21 per cent stapled 36, up from 14 per cent the previous week.

The percentage of samples having mike readings in the base range of 3.5 through 4.9 was 94 per cent last week, up from 89 per cent the week p rior. Breaking strength averaged 86,000 pounds per square inch on the samples tested.

Mental health meeting set

The Missouri Department of Mental Health will h old a public meeting at 1 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room, 820 N. Main St., in an effort to evaluate and update state licensing standards for residential facilities for the mentally retarded.

The meeting is the third in a sieries begun after the mental-retardation licensure law became effective in January 1973.

"The licensure law was designed to protect the basic rights of Missouri's mentally retarded citizens," Dr. C. Duane Hensley, director of mental retardation - developmental disabilities for the state mental health agency, said.

"Standards must assure that each individual has adequate and appropriate living accommodations and treatment programs and also safeguard each resident against abuse," Hensley added.

The current standards apply to all facilities providing residential care to one or more retarded individuals. Families caring for natural or adopted children are exempt from the law, and state agencies are exempt from licensing but are subject to the standards.

All aspects of 24-hour care are covered by current regulations. They are divided into areas such as administration, educcation, medical and health care, fire and safety and food service.

Additional information about the standards and the public meeting is available from the Department of Mental Health in Jefe Jefferson City, or the Department's four state hospitals and 11 regional diagnostic centers.

Persons unable to attend the meeting may contact any of the department facilities or a regional developmental disabilities council member to register suggestions.

Medical authorities urge crackdown on 'fat clinics'

CHICAGO (AP) — Two medical authorities today urged a crackdown on so-called "fat clinics" which use injections of a human hormone to help patients lose weight.

The hormone, derived from the urine of pregnant women, is called human chorionic gonadotrophin.

An editorial in today's issue of the Jounal of the American Medical Association says the weight-loss program of these advertised clinics may be hazardous to health and questions the vlue of the hormones.

It was written by Dr. John C. Ballin, director of the AMA's department of drugs, and Dr. Philip L. White, director of the department of foods and nutrition.

They noted that the attorney general of Michigan has ruled that the fat clinics are "in violation of Michigan's medical practice act, both as to participating licensed physicians and other persons who participate."

"We hope that other states will interpret their medical practice acts similarly," Ballin and White said.

A.T.W. Simeons, a British doctor practicing in Rome, first used human chorionic gonadotrophin along with a semi-starvation diet in the treatment of obesity more than 20 years ago.

The diet is inadequate and therefore poses a health hazard because it results in protein loss from body tissues, the editorial warned.

Mediators work to avert strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators are working to bring about a resumption of contract negotiations aimed at averting a nationwide coal strike after the United Mine Workers broke off talks in a dispute over money matters.

Despite the impasse, UMW President Arnold Miller said there still was a slim hope of preventing a walkout when the current contract expires Nov. 12.

"The onus is on the operators," he said. "The next 24 to 48 hours are rather critical," Miller added.

Chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr. said both sides were willing to resume discussion and he was hopeful for a meeting today. However, he acknowledged that no time had been set for a new session.

Usery stepped into the talks Sunday night after Miller led his bargaining team out of the negotiations, saying there was no point in continuing until the coal producers responded to the union's latest economic proposals.

A spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the mine owners had wanted to first resolve the remaining noneconomic issues.

"We made a great deal of progress and in a short time — in a day or so — we could reach an agreement," said Guy Farmer, the spokesman and chief industry negotiator.

In an apparent move to increase pressure for a settlement, the UMW's 38-member bargaining council approved Miller's recommendation to return to the coal fields rather than wait in Washington in hopes that the talks would resume and result in a tentative agreement. Time is already running short and this means at least an extra day before they can return here.

The council must first approve any agreement before it can be submitted to the union's 120,000 members in 25 states under a complicated ratification process which could take up to 10 days. However, Miller said it may be possible to shorten the time provided a settlement is reached early this week.

Federal energy experts say a long shutdown of the mines would have a more devastating effect on the economy than last winter's Arab oil embargo.

Farm price of milk and cost of dairy cow feed up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm price of milk was up last month, but so was the cost of feed for dairy cows. That meant a slight dip in the already depressed milk-feed ratio, according to Agriculture Department figures.

As of Oct. 15, the department's monthly report on farm prices showed last week, the milk-feed ratio was 1.17 pounds. That is the amount of dairy feed equivalent in value to one pound of milk sold by farmers.

The mid-October ratio was down slightly from 1.18 pounds in September and 1.10 set in August, the lowest in 27 years. A year earlier, on Oct. 15, 1973, the ratio was 1.57 pounds and on the same date in 1972 — when dairy farmers were making money — it was 1.77 pounds.

President Ford says he will not order larger dairy import quotas before the situation is thoroughly reviewed with dairy industry people. That is encouraging, milk producer representatives say, but direct action to boost government price supports is needed quickly to help relieve the financial burdens.

The USDA price report said the over-all dairy product index — meaning the average farmers received for all milk products — was up four per cent during the month ended Oct. 15 but still was two per cent below a year ago.

The milk-feed ratio figures illustrate what has happened the past year. As of Oct. 15, for example, the average cost of 100 pounds of dairy feed was $7 nationally, compared with $5.30 a year earlier.

Meantime, the average farm price of 100 pounds of milk also was down to $8.21 per hundredweight in mid-October from $8.32 a year earlier. That is a "blend" price average for all milk sold to plants.

If farmers had received a full parity price for milk last month, the Oct. 15 average would have been $10.90 per hundredweight, the USDA report showed. As it was, the mid-month level averaged only 71 per cent of the parity price.

A year earlier, when milk sold for more and feed costs were lower, the Oct. 15 farm price translated into 88 per cent of the parity price at that time.

Pollsters say voters see inflation as No. 1 issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Voters see inflation as the No. 1 issue in the election Tuesday and will be skeptical of any candidate who hasn't discussed it in terms they can understand, private pollsters say.

"Let's not kid ourselves, in this election there is one overriding problem on people's minds, and that's the economy," Frank Goldsmith of Oliver Quayle & Co. said.

Harry O'Neill of Opinion Research Corp. in Princeton, N.J., also used the word "overriding" to describe worry about inflation, adding, "The situation is similar to the way Vietnam was the big issue several years ago."

Goldsmith, O'Neil and three other pollsters declined to discuss details of the information they have supplied to candidates, but they did describe what their studies show about voter concerns.

Dick Wirthlin of Decision Making Information in Los Angeles and Tully Plesser of Cambridge Opinion Studies in New York emphasized the advantage of discussing inflation in specific terms.

"The electorate needs something it can undertand," Wirthlin said. "For example, cut government spending, soak the oil companies, hold the line against defense spending. But this all must be played against the background of what the electorate wants to hear. There seems to be much sympathy toward making sacrifices if the electorate can be assured that these sacrifices will help curb inflation."

Plesser said voters will respond best to a candidate who identifies a cause of inflation "and holds it up as an enemy to be attacked — you need something to clarify the issue for voters, who can't dope out the nuances of the problem."

Goldsmith said a candidate would be a "fool if he says he's going to lick the inflation problem. People are too intelligent to believe that. A candidate needs to be honest, to stress areas where he has shown some expertise that could contribute to a solution."

Bob Teeters of Market Opinion Research in Detroit said, "The only clear consensus that seems to be emerging is that a substantial number of voters think restraint in spending is needed."

Foster-Rice receive 15 ASCAP awards

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The songwriting team of Jerry Foster and Bill Rice, former Malden residents, carted off 15 plaques, 11 for their songwriting and four for producing efforts, at the American Society of Composers, Authros and Publishers banquet Oct. 16 in Nashville.

Each plaque represents 10 weeks or more for a record on one mor more of the music industry's three trade magazine charts.

Coming into their Music Row office an average of four days per week, the team creates an average of one song per day. Rice estimates 65 per cent of their songs are recorded.

The teamwork style of Foster and Rice, finely honed in 14 years of writing together, clearly was evident in an interview by Jerry Bailey of the Nashville Tennessean. The two bounced ideas off one another as evenly as actors reading parts in a play.

Rice: "Unless I come into the office to write or see somebody, I don't come in at all."

Foster: "We don't really socialize with each other that much. Our interests are very varied outside the business."

Rice: "Foster is an outgoing sort of person who likes to meet people and socialize. I don't care much for socializing because I'm mostly business. I like to spend my spare time fishing or hunting or picking. There's no conflict in our personal lives at all. Neither of us tells the other how to live."

Foster: "When it comes down to the business of songwriting, I don't think there is anybody else I want to write with, and I probably couldn't, anyway."

Rice: "We've put most of our lives into this business, and it's been very good to us."

The Foster-Rice-Hall winning hits were: "My Part of Forever", "Loving You Has Changed My Life", "Song and Dance Man", "Rose Cries A Lot", "All in the Name of Love", "When Your Good Love Was Mine", "Born to Love and Satisfy", "Hey There Girl", "Until the End of Time", "I Want to Stay" and "I'll Think of Something."

Ray Cromley

Getting the fox in the henhouse

By Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is an old saying that where there is power, it will inevitably be used.

That axiom applies just as well to the power of money from the federal government's treasury as it does to the power of money from corporations, unions or trade associations.

The recently-approved national clean election law ignores this truism and that should disturb every American.

We have been rightly concerned about the corrupting influence of huge donations to political candidates from milk producers, real estate operators union political actions funds—any special interest lobbyist. So the law just enacted restricts the size of private donations and the amount of money which can be spent by national candidates.

The law includes provisions for funds raised previously from private sources with $40 million in government funds to go to presidential candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties.

We ought to be as suspicious of huge amounts of federal money being spent in elections as we are of huge amounts of private money. The federal government is not some objective, disinterested oracle divorced from the frailties of man.

The federal government is controlled by human beings and my experience with them has taught me they will devise ways to use that $40 million in money power to control presidential candidates in ways we will not like.

If history is any teacher, these controls will start out as insignificant restrictions which most off-us will believe to be wise. They will be so minor that no one will be able to seriously object. Gradually, the web of controls will grow stronger, weakening the independence of the men running for President.

Before casting that thought aside, think back on the 200 years of this country's history. Recall how the federal government has increasingly taken over power from the states, cities and individuals. This accumulation of power has been accomplished through the reinterpretation of laws. It has been made possible through the control of the purse, by the inability of the states to unite and the failure of many states and localities to deal with pressing social and economic problems.

The powers over interstate commerce granted the federal government by the Constitution have been stretched to cover industries and businesses which by no stretch of the imagination are interstate commerce in the original meaning of that term.

The monies voted education in federal bills and through aid to impacted areas have been used to dictate to colleges and secondary and primary schools what some of their policies should be.

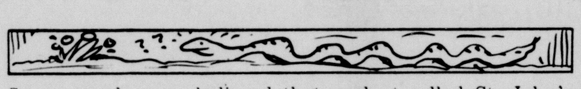
The huge federal purchases by the Defense Department and other agencies have been used to force private companies operating in local states to comply with Washington policy.

Welfare programs of the individual states, heavily aided from Washington, have been required in important respects to follow criteria laid down by federal officers. In some cases the federal rulings have resulted in major improvements. In other cases the results have been disastrous.

We should be thoroughly aware of the fact that we are exchanging one set of pressure groups for another. And it should be made clear we do not know where this change will lead. But some points can be made. The pressures exorted by individual donors tend to balance themselves out to some extent.

We have the government to monitor excesses, as in the Watergate case. But if the government is the sole donor in presidential races, who monitors the government?

The government in this case is Congress and no one has yet suggested Congress is able to monitor itself.



Some people once believed that a plant called St. John's Wort could cure rattlesnake bite.

The former Missouri governor would not commit himself to or endorse any of the possible candidates. "I'll just have to wait and see who is running."

"Wallace's biggest disadvantage is his health," Hearnes said. "I realize Roosevelt had almost the same disadvantage --- but this will be 1976."

When asked about his political future and the possibility of seeking Stuart Symington's Senate seat when he decides to retire Hearnes offered no comment and began visiting with friends.

Earlier, he stated he had "no political plans" at present, but a few of the Democratic leaders at the gathering voiced the opinion that Hearnes would be back in the political arena within the next two years.

Cowboys saddle cards with loss

DALLAS (AP) — Those who live by last-minute heroics also eventually die by them. At least that's what the only remaining unbeaten team in the National Football League learned Sunday.

St. Louis' thrill-a-minute Cardinals, who had strung seven consecutive victories including five in the final minute, fell by a similar sword.

Dallas' Efren Herrera, a free agent from UCLA the Cowboys signed only a month ago, chipped true a 20-yard field goal with four seconds left to hand Dallas a 17-14 victory.

"It's nice to win one like that after losing on field goals," sighed Cowboy Coach Tom Landry, whose team had lost three games on last-second field goals. In fact, the Cardinals shaved Dallas 31-28 three weeks ago on a 31-yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 62 seconds left.

St. Louis at 7-1 is still two games ahead of Washington in the National Conference Eastern Division, but the Cardinals dropped more than just the ball game.

They lost stellar running back Terry Mercalf in the first half to a strained and bruised knee. The St. Louis offense wasn't the same without the slippery Metcalf in the game.

"When we lost Metcalf, it was like Dallas losing Calvin Hill and he is the Calvin Hill of our offense," said Cardinal Coach Don Coryell.

Metcalf said in the dressing room after the game "I doubt if I will be able to play next week."

The Cardinals meet Minnesota in the Monday night television game Nov. 11.

St. Louis Quarterback Jim Hart nailed tight end Jackie Smith with a touchdown pass for a 7-0 lead but Dallas tied it just before halftime on Robert Newhouse's two-yard run.

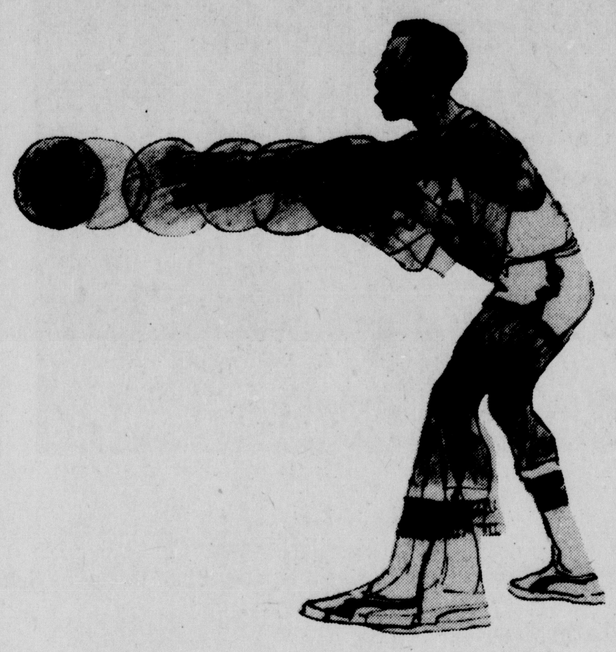
Hart connected with Mel Gray on a 10-yard touchdown pass to push St. Louis ahead 14-7 in the third period, but Dallas rallied again to tie it 14-all on Hill's two-yard gallop.

Then Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach whipped Dallas 71 yards to get position for Herrera's pressure field goal—only the second one he has made with the club.

Herrera said "Sure, I was neverous...You get nervous on every kick...Now, the fact that it's the last play of the game—that really makes you nervous."

The victory upped Dallas' record to 4-4 and kept the Cowboys, who have been in a record eight consecutive NFL playoffs, at least in the running for a wild card spot.

BASKETBALL TIPS
By Walt Frazier & Ira Berkow



'If the ball is stolen it's always the passer's fault.'

(Last in a series)

You have to have control of the ball. If I don't have a good strong grip before I pass it, my ball will normally be intercepted or I'll throw the ball into the hands of the guy selling popcorn.

The great passers throw soft but firm passes. Soft enough for the receiver to handle, quick enough for it to get there.

You should always make certain that the guy you're passing to is ready. If the ball is stolen it's always the passer's fault. Even if I hit a guy in the back, it's still the passer's fault because he threw the ball. If a guy's not looking, even though he should be looking it's still your fault. You should be in control and not throw the ball if it's not going to lead to something good. Just because the receiver is always supposed to be watching the ball doesn't mean he is.

Leading a man on a pass is not easy. It's all in judgment. If you can judge how far away a guy is you can pass to him. You want to throw it so that he can catch the ball without breaking stride.

You can practice passing to a certain extent. You can practice being a quarterback. You can improve, but you might never be great at it. It's just a talent that some guys have. Everybody can't be a pitcher, no matter how long or hard they practice. I think there's a knack involved that is instinct and is unexplainable. But you can practice against a wall. You throw to different spots. And you can practice passing with teammates. Always trying to develop a good rhythm, a good feel.

Mizzou faces Sooners

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri tries Saturday to stop Oklahoma in Big Eight Conference football.

If the Tigers, armed with a great runner in Tony Galbreath and a stout defense, fail, it appears the second-ranked Sooners won't have much trouble protecting their spotless record until at least Nov. 23 when they run into ninth-ranked Nebraska.

Missouri, a team noted for surprises, must battle Coach Barry Switzer's awesome charges on Sooner soil, and all of the Tigers' three losses this season have been away from home.

Both teams came awayw with victories last Saturday. Oklahoma, 3-1 in the conference, downed troublesome Iowa State 28-10, Missouri, 3-1, thrashed Kansas State 52-15, winning this one on the road.

The other big game Saturday sends Nebraska, 3-1, to Iowa State, 2-2. The highly-ragarded Huskers romped over Colorado 31-15 last weekend. The test with the Cyclones could be a tough one for Nebraska.

Oklahoma State, 2-1, invades Bdowntrodden Kansas State, 0-4, and Kansas, 1-3, journeys to Colorado, 1-3. The Cowboys should have little difficulty at K-State. They remained in the thick of championship contention last week by whipping Kansas 24-13 despite a Big Eight record 15 fumbles in a game played in a driving rain.

Oklahoma, unbeaten and untied, scored three third-quarter qouchdowns, two within a span of 25 seconds, to zbeat down the fired-up Cyclones, who held the Sooners far below their game average on offense and combed the Sooner defense for 335 yards.

Joe Washington, the Sooners' elusive runner, gained 86 yards on 14 carries and made one touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Steve Davis, who also connected for six points on a 33-yard pitch to Tinker Owens. Iowa State didn't score until the fourth period when Oklahoma fumbles set up all 10 points in the final minute, 39 seconds.

Missouri exploded for four touchdowns in the fourth quarter against the Wildcats. Galbreath, who chipped in with 194 yards on 32 rushes, tossed a 20-yard pass from his halfback slot to Mark Miller and scord once on a seven-yard romp. Steve Grogan, K-State's fine quarterback, made both of his team's TDs, one on a 22-yard pass from flanker John Tuttle and the other on a one-yard sneak.

Dave Humm's pinpoint passing, blended with clutch running by freshman Aark Anthony, highlighted the Huskers' verdict over the Buffs. Humm, who completed the first seven passes he threw, hit Larry Mushinskie with a five-yard touchdown pass and Don Wesbrook with a 16-yarder. Abnthony picked up 157 yards.

Oklahoma State's Charlie Weatherbie passed three yards to Ron Boyer for a Cowboy touchdown and ran two yards for another but it took two fumble recoveries by Darnell Meyers to cut off third-quarter rallies by the Jayhawks and save the game. Laverne Smith's 30-yard run gave Kansas a short-lived lead in the opening period. The Jayhawks didn't score again until the final period when Bruce Adams returneda punt 44 yards.

Doniphan crushes Rector

DONIPHAN — Rector Arkansas traveled to Doniphin Missouri and went home to defeat 38-0.

Doniphin quarterback Bill Jenkins passed for 169 yards,and halfback Steve Donnell had 157 yards rushing. In the first quarter Jenkins completed a 25 yard pass to End Dennis Ray for the first score. Jenkkins scored the two point conversion on an option play. Later in the quarter Dennis Cox scored on a 12 twelve dive play. Steve Donnell scored on a run wide for the two point extra point.

In the second quarter Jenkins again combined with Ray for a 26 yard pass play for the score. Point after missed. Half 22-0 Doniphin.

In the third quarter Steve Donnell put on a scoring show by scoring two touchdowns on six yard runs and also scored both two point conversions.. Doniphins total yards were 415. Final Doniphin 38, Rector Ark. 0.

SeMo loses, 28-27

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Carlton Hightower bolted three yards into the end zone with just five seconds remaining in the game Saturday and Steve Stokes then added the extra point, powering Northwest Missouri State past Southeast Missouri State, 28-27.

Hightower's scoring burst capped a 69-yard, 11-play Maryville drive that Cape appeared to have halted until a pass interference call gave the Bearcats a first down on the Southeast three-yard line.

Northwest is now 6-2 overall and 3-1 in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association race. Southeast is 4-4, 1-2.

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League traded defenseman Abdj0j0$—NI!IFTHE Vancouver Canucks for defenseman Barry Wilkins.

HR King traded

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Much suspense surrounded the negotiations which led to the weekend trade that sent all-time home run champion Hank Aaron from the Atlanta Braves to the Milwaukee Brewers.

But outfielder Dave May, who made up the other half of the deal along with an unnamed minor league player, says he figured out what was going to happen before the season was over.

"You know baseball players," said May. "They put things togther. And when we heard Hank was interested in coming back to Milaukee, I felt sure I'd be the one to go.

"I expected to be traded right after the seaon was over," May added. "After all, I wasn't happy with the way I was being played, and one confrontation with Manager Del Crandall late in the year was enough."

May, who slumped to .226 with 10 home runs last season after batting .303 with 25 homers the year before, said he and fellow Brewer outfielder Johnny Briggs had joked about which one of them would be traded for Aaron. He said he was convinced he was right when he learned a Braves scout was following the club on its final road trip.

Aaron, meanwhile, was in Japan for a home run hitting contest with Japanese star Sadaharu Oh when the trade was announced late Saturday.

Aaron said money was not a factor in his going to Milwaukee, despite previous reports that he was unhappy with what Atlanta had offered him.

"Money has nothing to do with my going to the Brewers," said Aaron, who will be returning to the city in which he started his major league career.

"I'm going because I wanted to," Aaron said. "I look forward to working with the entire Brewers' organization. I am happy that the Atlanta Braves saw fit to work so closely with me to meet my request."

Aaron said he would like to be more than a designated hitter next year.

"I will do whatever I can to help the ball club," said baseball's all-time home run champion, who eclipsed Babe Ruth's career standard of 714 early last season and now has 733 homers for his career. "I wouldn't want to be purely a designated hitter."

Aaron, 40, who began his career with the Braves in Milwaukee in 1954, belted 20 home runs last year and batted .268.

Manager Del Crandall said he was thinking of using Aaron, with whom he had played with the Braves, primarily as a designated hitter, but added that he might be used in the outfield at times.

Brewer president Bud Selig said financial details of Aaron's pact would be worked out after he returns from Japan on Tuesday. Selig said an outline of the contract had been worked out, but nothing was in writing.

There have been reports that Aaron might become general manager of the Brewers after playing a year or two. Jim Wilson vacated the job this summer to head a scouting bureau. Selig, who had indicated during the World Series that such a move was a possibility, declined to speculate on it Sunday.

Hank shows power

TOKYO (AP) — Hank Aaron will head home Tuesday with a home run contest trophy which slightly bolsters his position as world home run king, and with an Atlanta uniform he is about to exchange for a Milwaukee baseball suit.

Aaron wore Atlanta Braves uniform No. 44 when he beat Japanese slugger Sadaharu Oh 10-9 in a home run contest Saturday before some 50,000 spectators and a national television audience in the United States.

Neither slugger considered the contest a decisive way to determine who is the world's best home run hitter, but both expressed happiness at the chance to compete on the same field.

Then came the news Sunday that Aaron had been traded to the Milwaukee Brewers, returning him to the city where he started the baseball career in which he has rapped out 733 home runs.

The 40-year-old star said he is thrilled to go back to Milwaukee, but added, "I don't know how many home runs I will hit with the Brewers — I make no prediction.

It is not likely he will hit enough to keep his record out of the reach of the 34-year-old Chinese-Japanese first baseman for Tokyo's Yomiuri Giants. Oh says he expects to play at least six more years, and reckons he will boost his total — now 634 — to 800 home runs in four or five years.

Aaron acknowledges that likelihood and expresses amazement at the power and timing of the slender-looking Oh, who raises his right leg high and lashes out with wrists made powerful by swinging a bamboo sword Samurai warrior style.

Oh hit nine out of 20 fair balls into the seats of Korakuen Stadium, at least 300 feet away, in Saturday's contest but Aaron hit 10 homers in 18 fair balls and then passed up his last two chances. Balls, strikes and fouls were not counted.

LIFTING EXPERIENCE?

WHEN YOU SHOPLIFT...

you leave yourself wide open for arrest. It's not a pleasant experience and you can be sure it's one you'll never forget — because it'll be right there on the records, for keeps. Seems foolish, doesn't it, to risk your reputation, your future, and hurt the people you love, for an unimportant item that you can live without. You can live without the consequences of shoplifting, too. Be smart . . . when "friends" try to tell you that it's cool to steal . . . ask them what's so cool about getting busted.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Pernicious anemia treatment

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have pernicious anemia and have been taking vitamin B-12 injections for the past two years. Got tired of going to the doctor for the injections, so I stopped going. When I went to him the other day he gave me a good scolding and told me how important it was to take these injections for the rest of my life.

Would you enlighten me on pernicious anemia? Is it serious? Really don't feel any better after taking these injections, only a black and blue arm. I'm an older women, so I'd like to know more about this blood condition that I must take injections the rest of my life for.

DEAR READER — Your doctor should have scolded you. You had better believe that pernicious anemia is serious. What happens is that you don't absorb vitamin B-12 from your food. You need this vitamin in the vital process of producing new body cells — which we all must do as long as we live. We destroy and replace millions of new red blood cells each minute. To make new red cells you need the B-12. If you don't have it, you don't form the new red blood cells and you get a severe anemia.

The lack of B-12 can cause changes in other cells in the body, even affecting the way the brain functions. There can be gradual changes in the important nerve cells in your spinal cord, leading to serious problems even in walking. So, weakness, changes in your brain and nerves, changes in your digestive system, and generalized serious problems can result. Some of these develop gradually, and you may not notice them until you have already caused serious damage. Be a good patient and get the most out of your doctor's good advice.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For a person who should eat liver occasionally but doesn't care for it, would you say that liver extract or liver pills would do just as well?

DEAR READER — Liver is a good food. It is a good source of iron and a number of important vitamins. It is also moderately high in cholesterol and for those needing to limit their cholesterol, which certainly includes most men, it should be eaten in small amounts, if at all.

There is nothing in liver you can't get from other good foods. The vitamin enrichment and mineral supplements of our foods provide a lot of our vitamin needs that would be met by liver. Recently it has been decided to increase the iron in bread and similar products. So, I'm not really impressed that a person who doesn't like liver has to eat it today to be sure they are getting all the vitamins or minerals they need.

You can use liver extract in pill form, and you will absorb it as long as your stomach generates a substance needed to absorb vitamin B-12.

ORDER BARES INDIGNATION

Senegal's leading newspaper, Le Soleil, said the Sydney city council showed disrespect for tradition by ordering "to put bras on girls which they would never have thought of wearing during a village dance."

What's the law?

The case of the sympathetic kid

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

While Jasper was a confirmed bachelor, he was an unconfirmed father. To achieve his reluctant confirmation, Ella took him to court where she insisted that during an evening of hanky-panky, Jasper had gotten her pregnant. And, she wanted him declared the father of her 2-year-old son.

What's more, to prove her contention Ella produced the child in court so that the jury could see the resemblance between father and son.

"Just look at them," she told the jury. "They couldn't look anymore alike if they were minted together at Fort Knox."

"She's gotta' be nuts," was Jasper's answer. "We don't look alike.

The kid doesn't even have a beard. What's more, it was totally imnproper for her to have brought the kid into court. While we don't look alike, circumstances can alter faces. And, a jury, sympathetic to a child, can see anything it wants to see."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you void the proceeding because the jury was permitted to view Ella's stympathetic child?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it is perfectly proper in a paternity suit to exhibit the child to the jury for the purpose of having them observe resemblances or lack of resemblances between the child and the alleged father.

While conceding that courts throughout the country differ on the subject, the judge concluded that it was unlikely that jurors would become so emotionally involved in the sympathies of the case that they would imagine likenesses that didn't exist.

Today in U. S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Nov. 4, the 308th day of 1974. There are 57 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected the 34th President of the United States. He defeated Democrat Adlai Stevenson for the first Republican presidential victory in 20 years.

On this date —

In 1520, King Christian II was crowned King of Sweden.

In 1825, the first boat to reach New York City by using the Erie Canal arrived nine days after leaving Buffalo.

In 1879, a patent for the cash register was granted to J. J. Ritty of Dayton, Ohio.

In 1884, Democrat Grover Cleveland was elected President.

In 1931, the League of Nations accused Japan of aggression in Manchuria.

In 1944, the World War Two allies announced that Greece had been completely liberated from the Nazis.

Ten years ago: The former Mayor of Saigon, Tran Van Huong, was installled as Premier of South Vietnam.

Five years ago: Two jetliners, one Nicaraguan and one Brazilian, were hijacked to Cuba.

One year ago: Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts became the first Republican Senator to publicly urge the resignation of President Nixon.

Today's birthdays: Comedian Art Carney is 56 years old. Painter and scenic designer Eugene Berman is 75.

Thought for today: There is no wisdom save in truth — Martin Luther.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone to one of the voting booths provided, and shall prepare his ballot for voting in the following manner:

STRAIGHT TICKET

Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name.

SPLIT TICKET

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote.

Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group, a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark, unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name.

WRITE-INS

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle.

All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns. If two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form.

It is unlawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner or to erase any printed name (except as provided above in this section), figure, word or letter therefrom, or to erase any mark made thereon by the voter, or to enclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter defaces or tears a ballot, or wrongly marks the name or makes an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to a judge in charge of the ballots the one so defaced or wrongly marked. He shall at once mark and vote the ballot and the spoiled ballot shall be marked "void" in the voter's presence. A person who does not vote a ballot delivered to him shall, before leaving the polling place, return the unvoted ballot to the judges having charge of the ballots.

A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter places a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office, none of the candidates is deemed to have been voted for and the ballot shall not be counted for either candidate.

Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then deposit his ballot in the ballot box being used at that time and shall quit and leave the enclosed place as soon as possible.

(Sec. 111.451 RSMo. 1969)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friend:

Instead of writing my weekly letter, I send you today an editorial of October 21 from one of the nation's outstanding newspapers, the Columbia Daily Tribune.

This editorial sums up better than I could what is the most important problem in the world today; and therefore I submit it to you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Stuart Symington

INSTANT MASS ANNIHILATION

As important as Beef Prices?

While we all busy ourselves with less important things, the most significant circumstance of the day goes almost without notice. The press and the public worry over lesser things, sometimes with loud anguish, but we hardly ever take note of the insane, reckless nuclear armament situation which threatens to destroy us at any moment.

It is plainly a case of subconscious mental blocking on an international scale. And because of this war planners, particularly in the United States and the Soviet Union, move along a road of madness without significant opposition.

One voice of concern has been raised with more consistency than any other in the Congress, lonely though it may sound at most times. Stuart Symington, our Senator, has recently held hearings of a subcommittee he chairs called the military applications subcommittee of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. It was a rare open hearing on the subject, and there was testimony from a retired admiral, Gene R. LaRocque, who is now head of the Center for Defense Information, a private think tank. The information La Rocque gave is the same (though much more complete) we have personally heard Sen. Symington relate before. It is almost hard to believe, but it is true, without question, to wit:

-The U.S. has three times as many strategic nuclear weapons as the Soviet Union despite the impression that the Pentagon continually tries to leave in its requests for strategic weapons money.

-We have enough nuclear weapons to hit every Soviet city of morethan 100,000 population with 36 separate strikes. The Russians could do the same to every U. S. city of similar size over 11 separate times. This ridiculous overkill capacity does not stop the arms proliferation, however.

-Because of our superior weapons numbers we can destroy more individual targets in Russia than they can here.

-Nuclear arsenals in both countries have reached absurd levels. Ours alone measures 615,000 times the destructive power of the Hiroshima bomb.

-Both sides are violating the SALT agreement which states that both countries will take steps to limit and reduce their nuclear weapons. Since that 1972 pact the U.S. has added 2,190 weapons and the number is going up at a rate of about four per day. The Soviets have added 400 strategic nuclear weapons and are adding to their stockpile one a day. Since both sides can already kill each other several times over, what reason is there in this?

Indeed, even if the building of these hideous things could be stopped cold, what kind of tranquility will we have so long as the push of a button could literally wipe out an entire nation? And, need we be reminded, instead of stopping cold, the world keeps adding hardware and members to the club. South Africa is the latest, and that announcement came almost as routine. Ho-hum, there is another to go with the recent newcomers, India and Egypt. Ho-hum.

Perhaps Secretary Kissinger put it well when he said, ,,What in the name of God is strategic superiority: What is the significance of it politically, militarily, operationally, at these levels of numbers? What do you do with it?''

But having noted the stark irrationality of it all, the entire idea must have slipped again into Kissinger's subconscious. There is obviously no way that he has found to put these questions into practrice as he struggles with international relations. Having taken fleeting note, is he too obliged to look away?

It is too much beyond our coprehension — too fearful and unprecedented — for use in our human analytical process. Is this true? There is evidence that it is. If so, the problem cannot be solved, and the only way to stayy sane is not to think on it al all.

Which leaves the field to those who plan and build for our safety by going on and on and on ...

Tax exempt groups can get into a taxable situation

ST. LOUIS — Many organizations. being exempt, fail to understand that they can get into a taxable situation. In many of these, especially the smaller organizations where there is an annual change of officers, there is a lack of continuity and those responsible frequently are not aware of the problems the organization can have with taxes.

In order to provide some basic information for anyone who might serve in the capacity of treasurer or bookkeeper for an exempt organization, an agent with the exempt organization section of the Internal Revenue Service was interviewed.

The interview went like this:

Question: What are some types of tax exempt organizations?

Answer: There are social clubs that qualify, such as some motorcycle clubs, country clubs, sportsmen's clubs, etc; fraternal organizations such as Elks, Moose, Shriners, etc.; social welfare organizatinos, such as the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, PurpleHeart, certain areaa booster clubs, etc.; labor unions and trade associations; and, of course, churches, schools, hospitals, etc.

Question: Most of these organizations participate in various fund-raising activities. In the specific types of organization we mentionied, when would those activities create taxable income?

Answer: Social clubs dealing with the public or non-members will definitely create taxable income; for example, a bar or restaurant operation. Other organizations, such as fraternals or social welfare organizations, in dealing with the general public for profit, can get into a situation where taxable income is produced.

This probably will not jeopardize their exempt status unless it becomes a principal activity of the organization.

Question: What would be a situation where they produce taxable income?

Answer: Any time they produce what the law called "unrelated business income."

Question: What is unrelated business income;

Answer: It is generally income from any trade or business regularly carried on by the organizatini which is not related to the organization's exempt purposes.

Question: Is this unrelated business income always taxable?

Answer: No., the law makes an exception where substantially all of the work in carrying on the trade or business is performed by unpaid volunteers.

Question: Is this the only exception?

Answer: No, the organization can sell gifts it has received or some can dispense certain items which are related to exempt purposes.

Questiion: What are some examples of unrelated business income that have been found to be taxable?

Answer: Ticket sales, race tracks, snack bars, bingo — almost anything that is regularly carried on and unrelated to the organization's exempt purposes.

Question: Can you tell us some of the things Congress had in mind when they passed this law?

Answer: The law was passed by the 81st Congress back in 1950. At that time Sen. George Climn of the Seante Finance Committee said: "The fundamental objective of the tax is to eliminate the unfair competition which exists when a tax exempt organization engages in competition with taxpaying business.".

Question: Do you mean this law has been effective since 1950 or 1951?

Answer: No. The law applied to some types of organizations until the Revenue Act of 1969, at which time it was expanded to include all exempt organizations.

Questions: How can someone responsible for and representing an exempt organization find out how the rules apply to his organization?

Answer: First, he should read instructions for Form 990-T, the tax return to report unrelated business income, which is available free from the IRS District Office.

If that does not give him all of his answers, he can phone the IRS, 342-1040 in St. Louis or dial the toll-free number, 800-392-4200, and ask for an exempt organization technician.

Lakeville Lodge holds celebration

BELL CITY — Lakeville Lodge No. 489, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, at Bell City celebrated its 100th anniversary Sunday afternoon, with members (including some from out of state), former members and members of other area lodges attending the celebration at the Masonic Temple.

Gene Wheeler of Bell City, a past worshipful master of the lodge, acted as master of ceremonies in the absence of Worshipful Master Joe Hager. T The activities began with a "get acquainted" period, including organ music by Mrs. Roger Henson of Bell City, followed by the National Anthem, directed by The Rev. Roger Henson, who also gave the invocation.

Wheeler welcomed the guests and introduced distinguished guests.

Albert Elfrank of Advance, district deputy grand master of the 50th district and former member and past master of Lakeville Lodge, introduced the principal speaker of the afternoon, Most Worshipful Past Grand Master of Missouri Elivs A. Mooney of Bloomfield, and Harold O. Grauel of Cape Girardeau, most worshipful past grand master of Missouri who wao was serving in that office when the present temple was being built and was the speaker at the cornerstone ceremony and again at the dedication of the temple upon its completion in 1960.

Other distinguished guests were Right Worshipful Claude F. Stephens of Advance and Right Worshipful Ervan E. Estes of Dexter.

The history of the lodgie was read by past master James DeLay, which stated the lodge was chartered at Lakeville, located one and one-half miles from where Advance is now located, in 1874 and was moved to Bell City in 1892.

According to the records, W. W. Nickols was the first worshipful master.

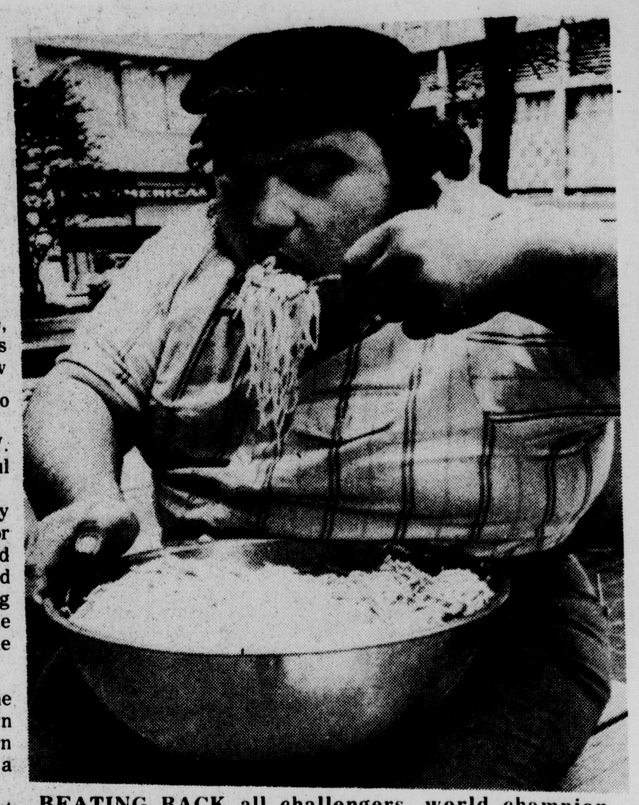
The building was a two-story frame building, with the first floor serving as a school room and church both General Baptist and Methodist, first on alternating Sundays and later on one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

The frame building served the lodge and Order of the Eastern Star until 1960, when a modern stone building was erected at a cost of $40,000.

The lodge, which has a present membership of 120, had on display during the afternoon some of its historical records, said to be among the best kept in the area.

The deed for the land on which the Masonic Hall was situated in Lakeville was ondisplay, a tract 75 by 176 feet purchased for $35.

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star Sapphire Chapter, under the direction of Worthy Matron Elsie Streeter, was in charge of the reception and decorated the dining room in fall color themes and served coffee, punch and homemade cookies to the guests.



BEATING BACK all challengers, world champion spaghetti-eater Mike Aprile of Tampa, Fla., downed almost seven pounds of pasta to defend his title. In preparation for the big event, the 387-pound champ consumed a few pounds of spaghetti during a tour of Philadelphia where the contest was held.

Poll shows Ford job rating approval up

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Ford's job rating has risen to 55 per cent approval, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The first Gallup survey after Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, taken Sept. 27-30, pegged Ford's approval rating at 50 per cent. That was the low point since Ford took office.

But in a survey conducted Oct. 18-21, after Ford's appearance before a congressional subcommittee to explain the pardon, the figure was back up to 55 per cent, with 28 per cent disapproving and 17 per cent giving undecided.

The Gallup organization said the increase came mainly from Republicans, who gave the President 75 per cent approval, compared with 65 per cent in September.

The Nixon pardon was most often cited by those disapproving of Ford's performance, a Gallup spokesman said.

Another survey also showed that public reaction against the Nixon pardon is mellowing.

Pollster Albert Sindlinger found 52.8 per cent disagreeing with the pardon in the week after Ford bestowed it on Sept. 8. But in the period between Oct. 19-28, Sindlinger found 32.5 per cent disagreeing. The number agreeing had climbed from 41.8 per cent to 51.4 per cent, he said.

2 burglaries investigated

PORTAGEVILLE — Police are investigating burglaries of two businesses that occurred during the weekend.

Dick Drerup, owner of Trader Dick's TV and Appliance, 100 East Main, reported to police Saturday that sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, someone broke a hole in a plate glass window on the west side of the store and removed a yellow 12-inch portable black and white television set.

Three quarts of motor oil were stolen from J.B. Ray's Service Station and Car Wash on Highway 162 east sometime Sunday night. A glass cutter had been used to cut a hole one foot in diameter in a front window.

Candidates battle as election nears

By The Associated Press

In an apparent reply to his Republican challenger, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has released a survey which he says shows Eagleton is the 13th most fiscally responsible of the 100 U.S. senators.

Eagleton, who faces former congressman Thomas B. Curtis in Tuesday's election, said the survey by the National Taxpayers Union "shows the meaninglessness of such broad-brush labels as 'liberal big-spender.'"

Vurtis has charged that Eagleton "has tried to shuck his liberal record ... by not leveling with the people" on his votes for federal spending, for busing and for gun control.

As the Senate campaign went into the home stretch, both candidates kept up a heavy schedule, with Eagleton planning news conferences today with Democratic candidate for state auditor, George Lehr, in St. Louis, Columbia, Kansas City and Springfield.

Curtis, who was endorsed by Americans for Constitutional Action Saturday, planned to hold his final news conference today in St. Louis, after stops in St. Joseph, Kansas City, Joplin and Springfield.

In addition to voting for a U.S. senator Tuesday, Missouri voters also will choose a state auditor, 10 U.S. congressmen and 180 state senators and representatives. Also on the ballot will be two constitutional amendments and a campaign financing reform proposition.

Curtis, 63, who served 18 years in Congress before losing a 1968 Senate bid to Eagleton, said last week inflation is the greatest issue in this year's campaign.

"Tom Eagleton, during his six years in the Senate, voted to add appropriations of $120 billion to the federal budget," Curtis said. "I believe in balancing the federal budget."

Eagleton, 44, said in a statement released today that "a reduction in government spending, while not the total cure for inflation, can have a beneficial effect on the rate of price increases and on interest rates. This has consistently been my position, as my colleagues and I on the Senate Appropriations Committee have cut $7.4 billion to date from the original administration budget request."

In the state auditor's race, Democrat Lehr is challenging Republican incumbent John Ashcroft. The low-key campaign has seen Lehr acknowledge that Ashcroft has done a good job as auditor, and Ashcroft concede that Lehr would do a good job if he were elected.

A victory by Ashcroft, 32, would help the Republican party maintain its momentum in the state and would be taken as an endorsement of Republican Gov. Christopher Bond's first two years in office.

A win by Lehr, 37, would help the Democrats in the 1976 campaigns for governor and other state offices.

In the state's 1st District, incumbent Democratic Rep. William L. Clay, 43, is challenged by real estate broker Arthur O. Martin, 55, and in the 2nd District, Rep. James Symington, 46, a Democrat seeking his fourth term, is opposed by Republican Howard C. Ohlendorf, 59.

Three women are seeking the 3rd District seat in Congress. Incumbent Democratic Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan is seeking to retain the seat she has held since 1952. Republican Jo Ann Raisch, 38, and Independent Marie S. Nowak, 54, are her challengers.

Incumbent 4th District Rep. William J. Randall, 65, a Democrat, faces Claude Patterson, 38, a school teacher and minister, and incumbent 5th District Rep. Richard Bolling, 58, is opposed by Republican John McDonough, 50, and Independent Edward Verburg, 76.

In the 6th District, Democratic Rep. Jerry Litton, 37, faces Republican Grover H. Speers, 51.

1 dies, 20 hurt in area wrecks

A Briar youth was killed and 20 persons were injured in nine area traffic acccidents over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Kenneth Eugene Wheeler, 17, of the Briar community in Ripley County was killed in a one-car accident at 10:30 p.m. Friday on Route Y two and one-half miles north of Doniphan. His death raised the death toll on Southeast Missouri roads this year to 93, compared with 122 fatalities for the same period in 1973.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred when Wheeler's northbound pickup truck ran off the road at a high rate of speed and struck a tree.

Three passengers in the truck were seriously injured, including Sterling Wade Dunlap, 16, of Pine, Larry Donald Robinson, 17, of Doniphan and Steven John Nowak, 17, of Fairdealing. They were taken to Ripley County Memorial Hospital in Doniphan.

Three persons received serious injuries in a two-car accident at 6:05 p.m. Saturday on Highway 51 one mile north of Fagus.

The accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Willie Miles Mitchell, 74, of Dexter came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and collided with a northbound car driven by Barbara Ann Wright, 34, of Qulin.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Mitchell car, Anna Mitchell, 72, were injured. The Mitchells were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff. The Wright woman was taken to a hospital in Piggott, Ark.

Six East Prairie residents were injured in a two-car accident at 3:20 p.m. Saturday on Highway 105 one mile north of Charleston.

The accident occurred when a southbound pickup truck driven by Michael H. Presson, 20, of Charleston made a left turn in front of a southbound car driven by Curtis Keith Bright, 18, of East Prairie, and the Bright car struck the back of the Presson car.

Irene Dudley, 62, and Juanita Hoss, 57, and Pearl Bright, 84, received moderate injuries, and Gayle Scott, 19, Charla Dudley, 21, and Bright suffered minor injuries. All were passengers in the Bright car and all were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Larry Wayne Myers, 30, of Dexter Route One suffered minor injuries at 4 p.m. Saturday on Highway 60 near the junction of Highway 25 at Dexter when he lost control of a westbound motorcycle which overturned.

He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

John Allen Thurman, 18, of Perryville suffered minor injuries at 9:50 p.m. Saturday on Route A three miles east of Chaffee when his eastbound car ran off the road and struck an embankment.

He was taken to Chaffee General Hospital.

Andrew Cane, 45, of Essex received minor injuries at 12:15 a.m. Sunday on Highway 114 just west of the Sikeston city limits when his westbound pickup was struck in the left side by another vehicle, forcing his truck down an embankment where it overturned in a drainage ditch and pinned him in the vehicle. The identity of the driver of the other vehicle was not determined.

He was freed by the Sikeston Rescue Squad and the Sikeston police, then taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

James Earl Griffin, 18, of Fredericktown received minor injuries at 1:25 a.m. Saturday on Highway 67 one mile north of Fredericktown when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of a southbound car which ran off the road and struck a tree.

He was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

A Marquand man received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident at 2:45 a.m. Saturday on Route A two miles east of Cherokee Pass in Madison County.

The patrol reported the accident occurred when a car driven by William Horace Allen, 69, of Marquand was parked sideways in the middle of the road and was struck in the side by an eastbound car driven by Darrell Allen Lemons, 21, of Fredericktown, who did not see the Allen car due to heavy fog.

Allen was injured and taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital.

Three persons received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 9:35 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 55 at Brewer.

The accident occurred when a

Stoddard voters to mark 4 ballots

BLOOMFIELD-- Stoddard County voters will be handed four ballots when they go to the polls Tuesday to cast ballots in the general election.

In addition to the ballot containing the list of state and county Democratic and Republican candidates, voters will receive a ballot containing two constitutional amendments one listing a proposition and a judicial ballot.

Amendment No. 1, if approved, will bring Missouri's constitution into line with the federal law on 18- year- old voter rights. Amendment No. 2 would liberalize the voting majority needed to pass bond issues.

The proposition provides for a new campaign financing and election law.

The judicial ballot will determine if Judge William H. Billings of the Springfield Court of Appeals District will be retained in office.

No special county issues will be decided in this election.

Hearnes sees Wallace as 1976 contender

By RON JAYNES

Former Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Charleston said Friday that he believes Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace will seek the Democratic presidential nomination again in 1976, but would not commit himself to an endorsement of the unsuccessful 1972 candidate.

Hearnes discussed Wallace's chances with a Daily Standard reporter during the Scott County Democraticc rally Friday night at the American Legion hall.

"There'll be a punch of candidates," Hearnes predicted. "More than we ever had!"

Although not fully discounting Wallace's chances of winning the nomination, Hearnes said: "He'll (Wallace) have a great voice in determining the candidate."

Hearnes spoke highly of Wallace, whom he introduced as a speaker at recent Truman Day festivities in Poplar Bluff, where the Alabama governor made only his second personal appearance outside the state since being paralyzed by an assassin's bullet during the 1972 presidential campaign.

"Wallace's chance of obtaining the nomination would be better if he hadn't been shot and wasn't confined to a wheel chair", Hearnes said. "He still is able to deliver a lot of votes."

Hearnes noted that the delegates are not obligated to cast their votes as the poplar vote in their state indicates. "Right now Wallace is leading a voter poll with some 27 per cent, while the other possible candidates have something like about 17 --- but votes and delegates are two different things."

Asked about the possibility of Wallace settling for the vice presidential spot on the Democratic ticket, Hearnes said, "I don't think he would settle for second. He'd rather be governor of Alabama."

Hearnes discounted the possibility of a first ballot win for any candidate.

"I don't think the party has a leading candidate right now," Hearnes said.

Hearnes seemed skeptical about the possibility of becoming a candidate himself. Although he did not give a definite no to the question, Hearnes pointed out: "I have no practical way to raise funds to run such a campaign in other states. Most of your presidential candidates are

Eagleton calls for probe into sugar prices

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has called for a ccongressional investigation into soaring sugar prices, saying they're one of the greatest factors in escalating food prices.

In a letter to Sen. Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, Eagleton said the p roblem of rising sugar p rices is clearly beyond the scope of any existing federal agency to handle.

The Missouri Democrat released a statment from his re-election campaign headquarters here Saturday night, noting that the p rice of sugar has increased 246 per cent on world markets this year.

He applauded Atty. Gen. William Saxbe's Oct. 29 promise to launch a Justice Department anti-trust investigation into possible price fixing, but he pointed out that others have a different explanation for the soaring price of sugar.

"While the Justice Department is exploring possible antitrust aspects," Eagleton wrote, "the State Department thinks speculation by Arab countries might have something to do with it. The Agriculture Department, on the other hand, believes oor harvests and increased consumption are the principal causes, while Commerce Department figures suggest increased U.S. exports might be a contributing factor. There is even the explanation that the energy crisis is to blame."

He said only a congressional inquiry could get to the bottom of the problem and result in corrective action.

"The inflationary impact of these price increases goes far beyond sugar to affect just about every food p roduct on the grocery shelves," Eagleton said.

He noted that a five-pound bag of sugar sold for about 82 cents in October of last year and that the same amount is now selling for about $2.33

2 plead guilty to possessing illegal device

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Two men charged in a two-count federal indictment with illegal possession of a destructive device consisting of three sticks of dynamite tied together with a blasting cap and fuse, plead guilty today in Federal District Court.

Dale Michael Crump, 23, of Matthews Route One, and Roger Dale Scott, 24, of East Prairie, will be sentenced at 9 a.m. Nov. 25.

The two were arrested Nov. 10, 1973 in East Prairie by Norris Grissom then a Highway Patrol officer. Grissom arrested both men for driving while intoxicated and Scott for driving without a license.

Grissom says when he first saw the truck Scott was driving, but the two switched places before he stopped them.

He took the two to the Mississippi County Jail in Charleston and returned to the truck and found 11 loose sticks of dynamite, 31 blasting caps, and the three sticks tied together.

Crump later pleaded guilty to the driving while intoxicated charge and was fined. Scott was found guilty in a trial and was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

City Council to meet

The City Council will meet tonight at 7:30 in the City Administrative Building.

The council will consider the second phase of the airport extension project and an ordinance setting the solid waste disposal fee and will receive bids for a detective car.

The council will also consider seven liquor and beer license applications.

Sugar costs more and more

It might as well be money flowing out of a sugar bag. Sikeston's shoppers are finding the sweet tooth commodity selling at up to $2.37 for a five-pound bag and brown sugar keeping pace. In some stores, sugar is being offered at $1.39 with a $10 additional purchase. This time last year sugar could be purchased for about 60 to 70 cents for a five pound bag.

THE JUPITER JOLT

As though we didn't have enough things to worry us these days, along comes the news that now we will have to brace ourselves for the Jupiter Jolt. It seems that some astronomers at the National Space Agency (NASA) got to twirling their computers, and they discovered that sometime in the year 1982 all nine planets on the solar system, including planet earth, are going to be lined up in a row like birds on a telephone wire, on the same side of the sun at the same time.

Amateurs like most of us might tend to shrug off the occurrence as simply another rare, but interesting event; but the experts say that the Jupiter Jolt might prove to be disastrous. Although there is controversy as to exactly what will happen, all seem to be agreed that something will very definitely happen when the nine planets all start pulling in the same direction at the same time.

From the sun out, the lineup will be:, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. Of these, the planet Jupiter packs the biggest wallop. Eleven times the diameter of the earth, and spinning at a rate of 22,000 miles an hour (as against 1,000 miles an hour for earth), with tremendous gravitational power and boasting a powerful radioactive belt, the wrench and pull may be so great as to actually slow the earth's rate of speed through space. And if that happens, we are told, the tugs and strains on the surface of the globe can be such that massive earthquakes will occur.

Another prediction is that there will be an enormous increase in magnetic activity on the sun, which in turn will create huge "storms" of sunspots; and this, in turn, will greatly affect weather and wind patterns around earth, with totally unforeseen but undeniably great changes in winds and rains.

We think it wise that Senator Frank Moss of Utah has asked NASA Administrator, Dr. James Fletcher, if he can provide further information about the forthcoming Jupiter Jolt. To be forewarned is to be forearmed. In any event, better mark your calendar for 1982 as a time when almost anything is apt to happen ... and probably will.

Zillions for Zany Studies

Should the United States be spending $4 million of tazpayers' money to assist an international an international campaign to preserve Nubian archeological monuments that were flooded by the Aswan dam?

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia doesn't think so. That's why he is objecting to this item in the national budget and a number of other equally fatuous research projects funded by federal grants.

The Nubian monuments project is particularly galling since the Aswan dam was built with Soviet funds. But it is no more nonsensical than other research grants uncovered by Byrd, including:$39,300 for a study of the sex life of crabs; $350,000 for a study entitled "Trends in Tolerance of Nonconformity"; $50,300 for a Harvard University Study on "Unintentional Influence in Dyadic Interaction",; $11,200 for a study of Nineteenth Century American sepulchral sculpture; $11,790 forThe Growth of Karachi as a Trading Center and Development of the Sindhi Mercantile Community Under British Rule (1843-1947)."

How about a research project on the U.S budget to cull out all of these zany research projects? That would be worth the money.

DANGER IN POLITICAL QUACKERY

The medical profession has been accused of dragging its feet by opposing the more drastic health care proposals that would commit the U.S. to a master plan of health care dominated by government. Dr. Max H. Parrott, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, defines four weaknesses in such a plan that worry the medical profession.

In an article appearing in The Wall Street Journal, some months ago, Dr. Parrott specified these worries. Worry number one is the doctor's natural reluctance to apply a new system of health care broadly with no assurance that it will work. Doctors, by and large, are in favor if improving the existing "pluralistic system". In Dr. Parrott's words, they are"...concerned over the prospect of any sudden, single, massive, unevaluated experiment that would cast all 200 million Americans in the role of the guinea pig."

The second worry physicians have about radical government national health insurance plans focus on reservations nearly everyone shares concerning government's ability as a manager. Thirdly, they question that the American people will get proper health care if the national budget is to compete in the political arena against demands for new highways, interplanetary exploration and defense appropriations. Finally, physicians worry about the fact that medicine apparently is expected to cure health deficiencies that, at best, can only respond partially to medical programs. No medical program alone can clean up slums, curtail the devastating accident rate on our $80 billion interstate highway system, or curb the health problems associated with the affluent standards of living most of us "enjoy".

As individuals, we are ready to heed the advice of doctors in matters of health. As a nation, we are in danger of falling victim to political quackery.

WEAKENING THE FREE PRESS

An excellent example of the inherent inequity of government controls over the marketplace can be seen in the publishing business. Magazine and newspaper publishers are subject to Phase II guidelines but not the Postal Service which is free to raise postage rates to any level it deems necessary. In the second- class category, postal rates are slated to increase about 150 percent over five years. Third- class postal rate increases are following a similar trend. The net result of all this is that there is likely to be a gradual drying up of the flow of news and information upon which the public depends to arrive at fair and reasonable conclusions on important issues of the day.

If publications can be put out of business through postal rate increases, the question of censorship of the press becomes academic. There will be very little press to censor and the written word as an element of the right of free speech will steadily diminish in importance as insolvency thins the ranks of America's thousands of daily and weekly newspapers as well as the nation's magazines.

NO WINNERS IN THE MIRV RACE

Warm feelings and friendly toasts at the "summit" notwithstanding, the Soviet Union has decided to go the MIRV route.

Rather than stay with its present superiority in total number of missile launchers (currently some 2,330 to our 1,710) but accept eventual inferiority in number of deliverable warheads, Russia has decided to try to catch up with the U.S. lead in the development of "multiple, independently re- entry vehicles"- missiles that can carry two, four or six separately aimed warheads.

It is an ominous turn in the nuclear sweepstakes, the insane game that nobody can win. One can only speculate about whether the Kremlin would have taken the step had not the United States first elected to go for the MIRVs in order to offset the Soviet "advantage" in launchers. It can be argued that it is better to have them always trying to catch up with us instead of the other way around.

Yet this has been the story of the arms race from the beginning, even after it became obvious that both sides possessed enough nuclear power to destroy each other many times over, no matter who struck first.

Where does it end? What do we do when the Soviet Union achieves MIRV equality- try for Super- MIRV?

With the capability of destroying each other now, a capability that has existed for years and cannot be changed by any conceivable technological refinement by either side, will we ever reach a point where we can agree to call a halt to the multiplication of these grotesque engines of annihilation, if not actually begin dismantling them?

Or must history record- if anybody is around to record history- that the end of the arms race came only with the end of the human race?

Terror in Portland

Portland, Ore., a thriving city in the great Northwest, is threatened with a massive blackout. The threat does not come from a fuel shortage. The architect of the blackout plan is an extortionist who is threatening to continue his deadly blasting of power transmission towers unless he is paid a million dollars by the power company. His explosives already have wrecked 11 of the big metal towers, and he is now threatening to put the city's water supply system out of commission if his demands are not met.

This savage attack on the people of a great metropolis is one more illustration of the crime problem faced by the U.S. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the police of Portland are making a supreme effort to catch the bomber. Presumably they will, but his devastating rampage already has left its mark. Crimes of violence must be reduced if we are to survive.

Once again it becomes evident that more resources must be thrown into the fight against the criminal. FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has said that he needs more agents and we agree with him. It is also evident that police forces across the nation must be expanded, both in manpower and equipment. The professional criminal should be apprehended and kept off the streets.

We urge that civic groups give police more support and that city fathers give their police departments whatever budget it takes to get the job done. To lose the war on the home front against the criminal would be just as tragic as losing the battle against a foreign invader. HLH

Inside Labor

WASHINGTON -- Marxists and their global "internationals" are of many kinds -- some brutal, some gentle, but Socialists nonetheless, intent on Socialist domination and reorganization of both sides of the iron and bamboo curtains.

On our side of the world stage this just isn't understood. There is little comprehension of the role of the Socialists. Recently, in London, for example, I wandered through the House of Lords, with a lord, a Socialist lord. Until a year or so ago, he was the powerful leader of Britain's ruling trade union movement. It was all so pleasant amid the enormous oil paintings and memorabilia of the English Parliament's vast halls.

I asked my friend, the lord, if his Labor Party was seriously considering turning Britain into a Socialist nation. He chuckled. "Of course, sure, sure," he responded smiling tolerantly as he turned to describe the mammoth painting of a historic naval battle.

It's the sheer charm of these British Socialists which makes it so difficult to strip away the cultured trappings of their rhetoric and get down to what they plan to do to their society and its industrial plant -- with which the United States is so intricately interwovern.

Yet, rarely have the plans of British labor and Socialists, and their International, been so crucial to the U. S. than now in our ravine-edged inflation economy. If Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government, needled by its veteran left-wing militants, really goes Socialist, I believe it willl bankrupt itself and hurl much of the West's economy over the cliff.

They are serious. An analysis of their documents, which have just been made available in full, reveals a methodical plan for nationalizing industries in which America has heavy interest, financial ad otherwise.

There are plans too for the "redistribution of wealth." In a speech written for Her Majesty by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Queen Elizabeth told Parliament the other day, "A measure will e brought before you for the introduction of a tax on capital transfers. My Ministers will propose the establishment of a Select Committee to examine the form which a wealth tax might take."

And this means far more than wealth a la Rockefeller. British Socialists think of "wealth" in terms of assets worth some $25,000 and more. In America this would include, soon enough, some of those West Coast carpenters and Southern pipe fitters on an annual basis.

But that's just for starters. There's the energetic Tony Benn, nee Anthony Wedgwood Benn (who fought against being known as a hereditary lord). He is Britain's Secretary of State for Industry. Sort of an American Secretary of Commerce. He has his eye on 10 Downing Street. Wants to be Prime Minister some day. And he believes the swiftest way to get there is to socialize Britain beginning with all major industries. And he has put it all on paper.

One road to such socialism is through something which will be called the National Enterprise Board (NEB) when and if it is created by Parliament. In effect, this Board would be able to control industry by a series of cooperative planning operations. The government, with the help of the big unions, would advise corporations on how to produce, and where, and what, and how to finance themselves, etc.

Such "planning agreements" between the NEB (which of course would be manned by Socialists) and British industry, would cover "major and strategic firms in key sectors of manufacturing industry and selected other industries including the British holdings of multinationals." This means many American corporations.

Further, the NEB would have the power to "start new ventures and participate in joint ventures with companies in the private sector." Obviously, all of this means that the full power of the government could be swung against any corporation which refuses to accept a "planning partnership" and that the government could go into direct competition with any privately owned firm. Or clobber recalcitrant industiralists with many weapons, including taxation and withholding of permits, loans and subsidies.

Thus, though the first new nationalization moves will come in the shipbuilding and aircraft fields , the rest of British industry merely will be waiting in line.

And as Britain goes, so will a score of other nations whose leaders are officials of the Socialist International (known decades ago as the Socialist and Labor International). Their power as Socialist or Labor Party leaders lies squarely on their trade union base -- for money, for manpower, for election machinery and as was so dramatically and traumatically displayed in Britain recently, on the ability to paralyze all industry. The coal diggers virtually did that during their strike which forced the U.K. into a three-day work week for lack of fuel and electric power.

Prime Minister Wilson is a vice chairman of the Socialist International. During the last conference of the International leaders, there were high officials from 26 governments, including 10 prime ministers, one national president, five cabinet ministers and one former prime minister. They were Harold Wilson's guests. They are democrats, but Socialist democrats and they want to create a Socialist world. That's their answer to inflation.

They are Social democrats but are not `opposed to economic dictatorship which isn't our way of life.

Leary Sees the Light

WASHINGTON -- Dr. Timonty Leary, the erstwhile high priest of psychedilics who once urged everyone to "turn on, tune in, drop out" on LSD, has had a dramatic change of heart. It was the Watergate scandal, he told a California grand jury, that made him see the light.

"I think if Watergate hadn't happened, I probably wouldn't be here today," he solemnly swore. Then, in his new ole as reformer, he accused his former attorney, George Chula, of smuggling drugs to him in prison.

The Los Angeles attorney has denied the charge. He has also pleaded not guilty an in indictment on different charges.

According to Leary's secret, sealed testimony, he insisted to the grand jury that he wasn't angry at his former lawyer. "He is a very pleasant, jolly person," Leary said. "It would be hard for anyone to be angry at him"

But after watching the Watergate drama unfold, Leary felt a compulsion to tell all. "I feeel a certain responsibility for ending what I think is a coverup, he testified.

He spoke of "two-ply lawyers" who "encourage and sponsor activities which are illegal" and then "defend people with whom they have been collaborating and cooperating."

He added, with a ring of righteousness: "I think that we are at a time now in this country when everybody has to tell the truth."

This was strange testimony coming from the former pied piper of the drug cult, the way-out Harvard psychology professor, who preached the heavens of hallucination and wound up in jail on marijuana charges.

In a spectacular jailbreak allegedly engineered by the Weasthermen, Leary escaped from a California prison and fled to Algeria. He later flew to Afghanistan with a jetsetter named Joanna Harcourt-Smith. But he was turned over to U.S. authorities who brought him home under guard.

The repenant Leary told the grand jury that he had broken with his past. "I do not intend to take any illegal drugs," he vowed. Then he launched into a colorful tale of how his attorney twice had slipped him small lumps of hashish to eat.

The first time was in the courthouse. He had become irritated with Chula for prating before the TV cameras and had asked the bailiffs to arrange a room for a private lawyer-client conversation.

"After I blew up and spoke forcefully to him, Mr. Chula reached down and pulled up his pant leg and, out of his stocking, he produced a piece of hashish and he handed it to me," related Leary.

"And what did you do with it?" asked Los Angeles District Attorney Art Koelle.

"I took it and I ate it," said Leary.

"All right," said Koelle, "when you say you put it in your mouth and ate it, did you just chew it up and swallow it, is that how you consumed it?"

"Yes," agreed Leary. ,,I chewed it. It was too large to swallow."

"Do you recall how it tasted, or how hashish tastes?"

"Yes ...," Leary paused. "It is like trying to describe the flavor of chocolate; they don't have words for it. But I would say that it is kind of an acrid, a dark, semibitter resinous, oily taste."

"After consuming it," asked the DA, "did you have any effects from it at all?"

"The effect of the hashish," said Leary, "was to get me over my anger so that I felt euphoric. I felt a feeling of happiness and nothing mattered, and I was no longer angry with Mr. Chula. It is a feeling like a philosophic detachment; it will all be over in a hundred years and no reason to get upset about it."

On the other occasion, Leary was seated across from Chula in the Orange County jail, with a guard watching through a glass window.

"Some time in the first few minutes of the interview," Leary testified, "George Chula handed over a piece of hashish to me ... This alarmed me very much because I knew that the guard was sitting in the glass booth observing waht was going on. So I kind of froze and I imagine my face must have registered concern.

"And Mr. Chula, who was sitting there, could look over my shoulder and could see the guard booth, said, 'It is all right.' So I put the hashish in my mouth and chewed it and swallowed it."

Timothy Leary, his blonde hair now graying, his Irish smile turning stern, said this was he last time he had touched the vile drug. Reflecting on the past, he said: "It has been kind of a Robin Hood adventure."

Farrow critical of Burlison remarks

DONIPHAN — Truman Farrow, of Jackson, Republican candidate for Congress from the 10th Congressional District, lashed out Saturday night at a statement by Congressman Bill D. Burlison that Burlison does not maintain a home in the district.

Burlison allegedly made the statement at a forum at Jefferson College last Thursday. Farrow made his statements at a Republican rally in Doniphan.

Farrow quoted Burlison as saying he moved his family to Washington because "That is where my work is." Burlison was quoted as saying most congressmen maintained three homes, one in the Washington area, one on the beach and one in their district.

"But I don't travel in that circle," Burlison reportedly said. "I'm too poor. I am poorer now than when I was first elected six years ago. The reason I don't maintain a home in the district nor any personal property is that I simply cannot afford it."

"So," Farrow said, "we have it from the Congressman's own mouth, witnessed by about 200 people."

"It is a disgusting slap at the intelligence of the people to think they would believe he was poorer now than when elected to a job that pays a whopping $42,500 per year," Farrow said.

Scott County contains 21,050 potential voters

Will the events connected with the Nixon administration result in more Scott County voters going to the polls Tuesday because of their increased concern over the political process;

Or will more than the usual number stay away because of a feeling of disenchantment and frustration with politics in general?

No one can be sure what will happen. What is known, fairly accurately, is the number of eligible voters in the local area and in every other community across the country and how many of them have voted, if at all, in other years.

The picture has been brought u to date by the Department of Commerce, through a state-by-state study, just released, giving its estimates of the current voting age population.

In Scott County, now that persons who are 18 years old and over are leigible, some 21,050 local residents, equivalent to 63.2 per cent of the population, may qualify.

This compares with 65.6 per cent in the United States as a whole and with approximately 66.7 per cent in the State of Missouri.

Contrary to expectations, despite the fact that the 26th Amendment made it possible for over 11 million 18, 19 and 20-year-olds to vote for the first time in 1972, only 5.3 million of them, 48 per cent, did so.

What their turnout will be this year, for a non-presidential election, is anyone's guess.

As for the entire electorate, young and old, the Commerce Department states it has reached 145 million, an increase of 20 million since 1970, the last comparable year.

Since 1962, it finds, there has been an overall decline in voter participation in non-presidential elections In the South, however, a growing percentage of the population has been voting.

How much jumping, from one political party to another, will there be this year; While there is no sure guide to what will happen, especially this year, some important light was shed on that subject in a study conducted some time ago by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center.

It found that once a voter makes his choice of a political party, usually before age 30, he generally sticks to it for life. Only one out of five switches thereafter.

Luis Ocana of Spain won the 1973 Tour de France bicycle race by finishing ahead of Bernard Thevenet of France by 15 minutes and 51 seconds, The World Almanac says. The 3,840 kilometer (about 2,100 miles) race lasted 23 days, and was completed in Paris on July 22.

Wyatt couple honored on 45th wedding anniversary

WY ATT — Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brown of Wyatt celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Oct. 26 with a dinner at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brown of Wyatt.

The affair was hosted by the couple's children and grandchildren.

Cake, ice cream and punch were served later in the evening by the couple's daughters-in-law, Dianne Brown, Betty Brown and Gennave Brown.

Brown and the former Vera Housten of Ashley, Mississippi, were married on Oct. 26, 1929 in Blytheville, Ark., by Ed Walker, a justice of the peace. Sam Mills of Dell, Ark. and a girl friend witnessed for the couple.

At wit's end

By Erma Bombeck

A pre-schooler who lives down the street was ccurious about grandparents. It occurred to me that to a child, grandparents appear like an apparition with no explanation, no job description, and few credentials. They just seem to go with the territory.

This column, then, is for the little folks who wonder what a grandparent is.

A grandparent can always be counted on to buy all of your cookies, flower seeds, all-purpose greeting cards, transparent tape, paring knives, peanut brittle, and ten chances on a pony. (Also a box of taffy when they have dentures.)

A grandparent helps you with the dishes when it is your night.

A grandparent will sit through a Greek comedy for three hours to watch her grandson and wonder how Aristophanes has time to write plays when he is married to Jackie Onassis.

A grandparent is the only baby sitter who doesn't charge more after midnight -- or anything before midnight.

A grandparent buys you gifts your mother says you don't need.

A grandparent arrives three hours early for your baptism, your graduation, and your wedding because he or she wants a seat where he or she can see everything.

A grandparent pretends he doesn't know who you are on Halloween.

A grandparent loves you when you're a bald baby to a bald fahter and all the hair in between.

A grandparent will put a sweater on you when she is cold, feed you when she is hungry and put you to bed when she is tired.

A grandparent will brag on you when you get a typing pin that 80 other girls got.

A grandparent will frame a picture of your hand that you traced and put it in her Mediterranean living room.

A grandparent will accept your calls from anywhere -- collect.

A grandparent will help you with your buttons,your zippers and your shoelaces and not be in any hurry for you to grow up.

When you're a baby, a grandparnet will check to see if you are crying when you are sound asleep.

When a grandchild says, "Grandma, how come you don't have any children;" a grandparent holds back the tears.

Ann Landers

Hysterectomy has nothing to do with auntie's belching

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's aunt lives with us. We have two children, 12 and 13 years of age. I should consider this a delicate problem but since Auntie doesn't, I'll go right ahead -- the way she does. It's her loud belching. She can be heard all over the house.

At the dinner table it's really disgusting. She doesn't even say, "Pardon me." Our children have started to imitate her and now they are competing with one another to see who can belch the loudest. When I correct them they say, "Auntie does it."

Last week I decided to stop hinting. I came right out and told Auntie how my husband and I felt about her loud belching. She claims she can't help it, that it's the result of her hysterectomy. If this is true we will try to be more tolerant. Check it out, will you please? -- Undone Katy

Dear Katy: Auntie's hysterectomy has nothing to do with her belching. If she believes she has a physical problem she ought to go to a doctor and find out what it is.

Reegardless, the woman should attempt to lower the decibel rating of her belching, as a matter of courtesy.

As for your children, if you can't put an end to their crude behavior now, they are out of control and I feel sorry for you. The worst is yet to come.

Dear Ann Landers: The husband who signed himself "Hungry" was right on target. But he left a lot of territory uncovered.

Those immaculate housekeepers who expend all their energy polishing and waxing floors and starching the kitchen curtains until long after midnight aren't the only ones who are losing out. Add to the list the double-domed intellectual who reads literary classics, atomic energy manuals, books on economics and international relations. She ought to be smart enough to know that there ain't where it's at at 2:00 a.m.

I don't need a sexpot, either. Just a woman who knows what time it is. Sign my letter -- Hungry II

Dear Hungry: Sometimes it helps if you buy her a nice watch. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in the hope that you can print this before my parents split. Here's the story:

Mom is the third in a family of five children. She was always the one who had to do all the dirty work. She was also the one who was least loved. Now that Grandma is very sick, Mom is the one who visits her every day in the hospital. She is also the one who goes to Grandpa's place and cooks and cleans and does his laundry.

These daily visits to the hospital and to Grandpa's infuriate my father. Grandma is practically a vegetable. She doesn't know anybody and it can't matter to her if Mom comes or not. Daddy just can't seem to get this through her head. He says she is proving by her actions that she cares more about her parents than she cares about her husband and children.

They argue about this all the time and I'm afraid of what might happen. Any advice? -- B.K.S.

I hope your dad will see that this has nothing to do with him or you children. It's a highly neurotic pattern of behavior and not an uncommon one. Your mom feels that she MUST do this, and no one can change her mind.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

EAGLETON-LEHR

U.S. Senator Tom Eagleton is working to curb inflation by holding down government spending. He's fighting big oil, its unconscionable profits, and its $25 billion a year in increased prices to consumers. He's working to restrain big government — to keep it from intruding into the rights and privacy of citizens. And, most important, he's responsive to the people of Missouri. Tom Eagleton gets things done.

George Lehr is the most qualified candidate ever for Missouri State Auditor. He brings 11 years of experience in government — most recently as Jackson County Executive — and 13 years as a professional Certified Public Accountant to his candidacy. George Lehr made the new Jackson County government work. As State Auditor, he will make state government work more efficiently and economically. George Lehr will get things done.

5 mayors discuss community projects

HOWARDVILLE — Five black mayors from small southeast Missouri communities gathered here Thursday night to exchange information and discuss community development projects. Attending were Mayor David-Humes, Hayti Heights, . Mayor Willie B. Hamilton, Howardville Mayor T. L. Clark, North Lilbourn; Mayor J. W. Shavers, Homestown; and Mayor Lomie Lane, Wilson City.

Chairman David Humes said the Southern Black Mayors Conference was requesting information for a demonstration water project. He requested that the mayors fill out the forms that they had received as soon as possible.

Mayor Shavers was critical of the short time that was alloted to complete the forms and that he had not received enough information from the Southern Black Mayors Conference. Also discussed was the possibility of approaching the Office of .Minority Business Enterprises in Washington, D.C., for funds to start minority businesses.

Chairman Humes told he Mayors that Ed Taylor, community development specialist from Lincoln University in Jefferson City, wished to meet with them. He said Taylor wanted to discuss the possibility of the mayors applying for funds under the Community Development Act of 1974. A meeting will be arranged with Taylor.

The Mayors discussed asking the state for a non-profit charter so the Bootheel Mayors Association can be incorporated.

Mayor Hamilton idscussed Howardville's pre-application to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for $120,000 to build a multi-purpose community center. The pre-application is presently being reviewed at the regional EDA office in Denver, Colo. Hamilton said Howardville will be able to hire three city employes to work for six mnths. They will be paid by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act, which falls underthe jurisdiction of the State Manpower Planning Office in .Jefferson City. Hamilton said they would hire a clerk, laborer and sewer line inspector.

Jimmy Rodgers recovering from head surgery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Jimmy Rodgers says he is recovering successfully from head surgery following a fall suffered while filming his latest movie.

Rodgers, 41, who earlier this year accepted a $200,000 settlement from the City of Los Angeles for injuries received in a disputed 1967 incident, said Wednesday the recent fall had aggravated old head wounds.

Madrid man disappears

NEW MADRID-- The New Madrid County sheriff's department is assisting the B.J. Rooker Sr. family in efforts to locate a son, Benjamin Rooker Jr., 30, who has been missing since he left the family home at 100 Matthew St. at 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

The son was the driver of a van involved in a traffic accident Wednesday night in which another son, Jimmy Allen Rooker, 18, was fatally injured.

According to Deputy Sheriff Willis "Bo" Wingo, Rooker is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 145 pounds, has long red hair and a goatee beard.

Persons who might have information concerning Rooker are requested to contact the New Madrid County sheriff's department. The telephone number is 748-5250.

He is married and has two children.

3 charged with possession

CHAFFEE — Three men, arrested Thursday at two Chaffee apartments following tips by informants, have been charged with possession of a controlled substance and are being held in the Scott County jail at Benton.

Charged are Elmer Penrose, 22, of Chaffee and David Steffan, 28, and George Mannon, 25, of Charleston. A fourth person, who was an informant in the arrest of the two Charleston men, has also been charged with possession of a controlled substance but has been released on $25,000 bond.

The arrests came following a three-week investigation by the Chaffee police department, Chief James Coats said.

Police received a tip from a reliable informant Thursday morning that some drugs were to be sold at a local apartment.

After obtaining a search warrant from Magistrate Lloyd Briggs, CHIEF Coats, three city police officers, Scott County Deputies Dave Sanders and Jack Stewart and Prosecuting Attorney James Moore went to an upstairs apartment at 201 W. Parker and presented the warrant to Penrose.

After arresting Penrose, police got a tip from another informant that another shipment was coming in to an apartment, which police did not identify, at 4 p.m. Coats and the prosecuting attorney hid in a bedroom of the apartment, while Sanders and the informant waited in the living room.

At approximately 4:10, Steffan and Mannon came to the door and were let in by the informant. After the door was locked behind the man, Sanders told them who he was and placed them under arrest. He found 100 LSD tablets on Steffan during a search.

Desegregation plan deadline set in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston school committee faces a Dec. 16 deadline to come up with a final desegregation plan involving "all grades in all schools in all parts of the city."

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr., who imposed the initial integration plan for Boston's schools, set the deadline Thursday in a new court order.

The order came as schools went through a quiet day and as Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered a two-thirds cutback in the number of National Guard troops called up three weeks ago because of violence associated with busing for integration.

But the judge said the new plan should minimize busing and "minimize the reassignment of students who were reassigned for September, 1974." The new plan would take effect next September.

Planners should "endeavor to avoid burdening more black and other minority students than white students by transportation, school closings and other measures," he said.

Under the current plan, about 8,500 white students and 9,700 blacks are bused.

The judge's order makes the city eligible for at least $500,000 in federal school aid.

A school official said Thursday was a "very quiet and normal day," with attendance at 77 per cent. He said 14 students were suspended at various schools for "name-calling and some shoving."

West Coast menswear has style of its own

All of the styles exhibited illustrated the elan and freedom of Pacific-area designers, who impart a distinctive verve to their clothes while remaining within the current fashion trends — many of which they originate.

The suits and sport coats, for example, held to the shaped two-button models but are individualized by unusual detailings applied to the collars, lapels and pockets. Their squarish, "forward pitch" shoulders originated on the West Coast and are hallmarks of this area's clothes. Colors are in pastel shades — linen tones, whites and off-whites. In many cases buttons utilize metals, horn, wood and enamel. Western-type suits and sport coats worn by oilmen and ranchers appear with trimmed yokes, pointed pocket flaps and fancy backs.

Easy suits, the casual clothes that have taken the nation by storm, were among the most important styles shown and they came in three basic types: The short blouson or battle jackets, the C.P.O. outershirts and the safaris.

Outerwear stamped with Pacific Coast styling was very well represented and much emphasis was placed on smooth and sueded leather-look and leather tailored into trench coats, shirts, safaris and stockman's coats.

T-shirts, now well established in the fashion firmament, are a California forte and they were shown in a rainbow of colors decorated with an eye-popping array of prints.

Of course the things to wear with T-shirts are jeans. And these wildly popular pants are getting their fashion due. The newest models have saddle seats. They fit snugly at the thigh and flare out to the bottom of the leg.

The slacks shown were generally classic in concert with Western pockets. Most were in polyester double-knits.

Swim wear collections ranged from coordinate top-and-bottom pool suits to basketball model trunks, brief bikinis and a new minimal racing trunk knitted of bright, shiny nylon.

Merick promoted

CATRON - Cadet Tom Merick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Merick, Route One, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Missouri Military Academy in Mexico, Mo.

The promotion was announced by Lt. Col. John B. Starke, commandant of cadets. Promotions were granted for scholastic, athletic and leadership progress in the MMA cadet corps.

Cotton trading increases

HAYTI — Trading increased slightly on local Missouri cotton markets last week, according to Paul W. Karban, officer in charge of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Hayti Classing Office who said demand strengthened somewhat and prices were higher.

Farmers sold a small volume of cotton in mixed lots containing mostly 41 and higher grades, with 35 and longer staples going at 41 to 42.5 cents per pound. Prices averaged about two cents a pound higher than the previous week's.

The majority of cotton moving through market channels was delivered on contracts made prior to the season. Farmers continued to reject most offers to buy their recent ginnings at the current level of prices and were holding the bulk of their free cotton. Ginyard prices for cottonseed were steady and averaged $123 per ton.

The harvest was delayed throughout most of the week by rainy weather. Most gins were caught up with ginning by the weekend. Farmers have completed picking over the first time at most locations and were beginning the second picking.

The Agricultural Marketing Service's Hayti Classing Office had classed a season's total of 130,000 samples for farmers through Friday. This compares with 94,000 classed through Nov. 1 last year.

Samples classed at the office during the week ended Oct. 25 was about unchanged in grade but averaged slightly longer in stample than the previous week's classings. Grade 41 still accounted for the highest percentage of classings last week at 57 per cent. Grade 31 was the next highest at 15 per cent. Both these percentages were about the same as the previous week.

Seventy-six per cent of the samples stapled 35, compared to 78 per cent a week earlier; and 21 per cent stapled 36, up from 14 per cent the previous week.

The percentage of samples having mike readings in the base range of 3.5 through 4.9 was 94 per cent last week, up from 89 per cent the week p rior. Breaking strength averaged 86,000 pounds per square inch on the samples tested.

Mental health meeting set

The Missouri Department of Mental Health will h old a public meeting at 1 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room, 820 N. Main St., in an effort to evaluate and update state licensing standards for residential facilities for the mentally retarded.

The meeting is the third in a sieries begun after the mental-retardation licensure law became effective in January 1973.

"The licensure law was designed to protect the basic rights of Missouri's mentally retarded citizens," Dr. C. Duane Hensley, director of mental retardation - developmental disabilities for the state mental health agency, said.

"Standards must assure that each individual has adequate and appropriate living accommodations and treatment programs and also safeguard each resident against abuse," Hensley added.

The current standards apply to all facilities providing residential care to one or more retarded individuals. Families caring for natural or adopted children are exempt from the law, and state agencies are exempt from licensing but are subject to the standards.

All aspects of 24-hour care are covered by current regulations. They are divided into areas such as administration, educcation, medical and health care, fire and safety and food service.

Additional information about the standards and the public meeting is available from the Department of Mental Health in Jefe Jefferson City, or the Department's four state hospitals and 11 regional diagnostic centers.

Persons unable to attend the meeting may contact any of the department facilities or a regional developmental disabilities council member to register suggestions.

Medical authorities urge crackdown on 'fat clinics'

CHICAGO (AP) — Two medical authorities today urged a crackdown on so-called "fat clinics" which use injections of a human hormone to help patients lose weight.

An editorial in today's issue of the Jounal of the American Medical Association says the weight-loss program of these advertised clinics may be hazardous to health and questions the vlue of the hormones.

It was written by Dr. John C. Ballin, director of the AMA's department of drugs, and Dr. Philip L. White, director of the department of foods and nutrition.

They noted that the attorney general of Michigan has ruled that the fat clinics are "in violation of Michigan's medical practice act, both as to participating licensed physicians and other persons who participate."

"We hope that other states will interpret their medical practice acts similarly," Ballin and White said.

A.T.W. Simeons, a British doctor practicing in Rome, first used human chorionic gonadotrophin along with a semi-starvation diet in the treatment of obesity more than 20 years ago.

The diet is inadequate and therefore poses a health hazard because it results in protein loss from body tissues, the editorial warned.

Mediators work to avert strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators are working to bring about a resumption of contract negotiations aimed at averting a nationwide coal strike after the United Mine Workers broke off talks in a dispute over money matters.

Despite the impasse, UMW President Arnold Miller said there still was a slim hope of preventing a walkout when the current contract expires Nov. 12.

"The onus is on the operators," he said. "The next 24 to 48 hours are rather critical," Miller added.

Chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr. said both sides were willing to resume discussion and he was hopeful for a meeting today. However, he acknowledged that no time had been set for a new session.

Usery stepped into the talks Sunday night after Miller led his bargaining team out of the negotiations, saying there was no point in continuing until the coal producers responded to the union's latest economic proposals.

A spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the mine owners had wanted to first resolve the remaining noneconomic issues.

"We made a great deal of progress and in a short time — in a day or so — we could reach an agreement," said Guy Farmer, the spokesman and chief industry negotiator.

In an apparent move to increase pressure for a settlement, the UMW's 38-member bargaining council approved Miller's recommendation to return to the coal fields rather than wait in Washington in hopes that the talks would resume and result in a tentative agreement. Time is already running short and this means at least an extra day before they can return here.

The council must first approve any agreement before it can be submitted to the union's 120,000 members in 25 states under a complicated ratification process which could take up to 10 days. However, Miller said it may be possible to shorten the time provided a settlement is reached early this week.

Federal energy experts say a long shutdown of the mines would have a more devastating effect on the economy than last winter's Arab oil embargo.

Farm price of milk and cost of dairy cow feed up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm price of milk was up last month, but so was the cost of feed for dairy cows. That meant a slight dip in the already depressed milk-feed ratio, according to Agriculture Department figures.

As of Oct. 15, the department's monthly report on farm prices showed last week, the milk-feed ratio was 1.17 pounds. That is the amount of dairy feed equivalent in value to one pound of milk sold by farmers.

The mid-October ratio was down slightly from 1.18 pounds in September and 1.10 set in August, the lowest in 27 years. A year earlier, on Oct. 15, 1973, the ratio was 1.57 pounds and on the same date in 1972 — when dairy farmers were making money — it was 1.77 pounds.

President Ford says he will not order larger dairy import quotas before the situation is thoroughly reviewed with dairy industry people. That is encouraging, milk producer representatives say, but direct action to boost government price supports is needed quickly to help relieve the financial burdens.

The USDA price report said the over-all dairy product index — meaning the average farmers received for all milk products — was up four per cent during the month ended Oct. 15 but still was two per cent below a year ago.

The milk-feed ratio figures illustrate what has happened the past year. As of Oct. 15, for example, the average cost of 100 pounds of dairy feed was $7 nationally, compared with $5.30 a year earlier.

Meantime, the average farm price of 100 pounds of milk also was down to $8.21 per hundredweight in mid-October from $8.32 a year earlier. That is a "blend" price average for all milk sold to plants.

If farmers had received a full parity price for milk last month, the Oct. 15 average would have been $10.90 per hundredweight, the USDA report showed. As it was, the mid-month level averaged only 71 per cent of the parity price.

A year earlier, when milk sold for more and feed costs were lower, the Oct. 15 farm price translated into 88 per cent of the parity price at that time.

Pollsters say voters see inflation as No. 1 issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Voters see inflation as the No. 1 issue in the election Tuesday and will be skeptical of any candidate who hasn't discussed it in terms they can understand, private pollsters say.

"Let's not kid ourselves, in this election there is one overriding problem on people's minds, and that's the economy," Frank Goldsmith of Oliver Quayle & Co. said.

Harry O'Neill of Opinion Research Corp. in Princeton, N.J., also used the word "overriding" to describe worry about inflation, adding, "The situation is similar to the way Vietnam was the big issue several years ago."

Goldsmith, O'Neil and three other pollsters declined to discuss details of the information they have supplied to candidates, but they did describe what their studies show about voter concerns.

Dick Wirthlin of Decision Making Information in Los Angeles and Tully Plesser of Cambridge Opinion Studies in New York emphasized the advantage of discussing inflation in specific terms.

"The electorate needs something it can undertand," Wirthlin said. "For example, cut government spending, soak the oil companies, hold the line against defense spending. But this all must be played against the background of what the electorate wants to hear. There seems to be much sympathy toward making sacrifices if the electorate can be assured that these sacrifices will help curb inflation."

Plesser said voters will respond best to a candidate who identifies a cause of inflation "and holds it up as an enemy to be attacked — you need something to clarify the issue for voters, who can't dope out the nuances of the problem."

Goldsmith said a candidate would be a "fool if he says he's going to lick the inflation problem. People are too intelligent to believe that. A candidate needs to be honest, to stress areas where he has shown some expertise that could contribute to a solution."

Bob Teeters of Market Opinion Research in Detroit said, "The only clear consensus that seems to be emerging is that a substantial number of voters think restraint in spending is needed."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The songwriting team of Jerry Foster and Bill Rice, former Malden residents, carted off 15 plaques, 11 for their songwriting and four for producing efforts, at the American Society of Composers, Authros and Publishers banquet Oct. 16 in Nashville.

Each plaque represents 10 weeks or more for a record on one mor more of the music industry's three trade magazine charts.

Coming into their Music Row office an average of four days per week, the team creates an average of one song per day. Rice estimates 65 per cent of their songs are recorded.

The teamwork style of Foster and Rice, finely honed in 14 years of writing together, clearly was evident in an interview by Jerry Bailey of the Nashville Tennessean. The two bounced ideas off one another as evenly as actors reading parts in a play.

Rice: "Unless I come into the office to write or see somebody, I don't come in at all."

Foster: "We don't really socialize with each other that much. Our interests are very varied outside the business."

Rice: "Foster is an outgoing sort of person who likes to meet people and socialize. I don't care much for socializing because I'm mostly business. I like to spend my spare time fishing or hunting or picking. There's no conflict in our personal lives at all. Neither of us tells the other how to live."

Foster: "When it comes down to the business of songwriting, I don't think there is anybody else I want to write with, and I probably couldn't, anyway."

Rice: "We've put most of our lives into this business, and it's been very good to us."

The Foster-Rice-Hall winning hits were: "My Part of Forever", "Loving You Has Changed My Life", "Song and Dance Man", "Rose Cries A Lot", "All in the Name of Love", "When Your Good Love Was Mine", "Born to Love and Satisfy", "Hey There Girl", "Until the End of Time", "I Want to Stay" and "I'll Think of Something."

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is an old saying that where there is power, it will inevitably be used.

That axiom applies just as well to the power of money from the federal government's treasury as it does to the power of money from corporations, unions or trade associations.

The recently-approved national clean election law ignores this truism and that should disturb every American.

We have been rightly concerned about the corrupting influence of huge donations to political candidates from milk producers, real estate operators union political actions funds—any special interest lobbyist. So the law just enacted restricts the size of private donations and the amount of money which can be spent by national candidates.

The law includes provisions for funds raised previously from private sources with $40 million in government funds to go to presidential candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties.

We ought to be as suspicious of huge amounts of federal money being spent in elections as we are of huge amounts of private money. The federal government is not some objective, disinterested oracle divorced from the frailties of man.

The federal government is controlled by human beings and my experience with them has taught me they will devise ways to use that $40 million in money power to control presidential candidates in ways we will not like.

If history is any teacher, these controls will start out as insignificant restrictions which most off-us will believe to be wise. They will be so minor that no one will be able to seriously object. Gradually, the web of controls will grow stronger, weakening the independence of the men running for President.

Before casting that thought aside, think back on the 200 years of this country's history. Recall how the federal government has increasingly taken over power from the states, cities and individuals. This accumulation of power has been accomplished through the reinterpretation of laws. It has been made possible through the control of the purse, by the inability of the states to unite and the failure of many states and localities to deal with pressing social and economic problems.

The powers over interstate commerce granted the federal government by the Constitution have been stretched to cover industries and businesses which by no stretch of the imagination are interstate commerce in the original meaning of that term.

The monies voted education in federal bills and through aid to impacted areas have been used to dictate to colleges and secondary and primary schools what some of their policies should be.

The huge federal purchases by the Defense Department and other agencies have been used to force private companies operating in local states to comply with Washington policy.

Welfare programs of the individual states, heavily aided from Washington, have been required in important respects to follow criteria laid down by federal officers. In some cases the federal rulings have resulted in major improvements. In other cases the results have been disastrous.

We should be thoroughly aware of the fact that we are exchanging one set of pressure groups for another. And it should be made clear we do not know where this change will lead. But some points can be made. The pressures exorted by individual donors tend to balance themselves out to some extent.

We have the government to monitor excesses, as in the Watergate case. But if the government is the sole donor in presidential races, who monitors the government?

The government in this case is Congress and no one has yet suggested Congress is able to monitor itself.

The former Missouri governor would not commit himself to or endorse any of the possible candidates. "I'll just have to wait and see who is running."

"Wallace's biggest disadvantage is his health," Hearnes said. "I realize Roosevelt had almost the same disadvantage --- but this will be 1976."

When asked about his political future and the possibility of seeking Stuart Symington's Senate seat when he decides to retire Hearnes offered no comment and began visiting with friends.

Earlier, he stated he had "no political plans" at present, but a few of the Democratic leaders at the gathering voiced the opinion that Hearnes would be back in the political arena within the next two years.

Cowboys saddle cards with loss

DALLAS (AP) — Those who live by last-minute heroics also eventually die by them. At least that's what the only remaining unbeaten team in the National Football League learned Sunday.

St. Louis' thrill-a-minute Cardinals, who had strung seven consecutive victories including five in the final minute, fell by a similar sword.

Dallas' Efren Herrera, a free agent from UCLA the Cowboys signed only a month ago, chipped true a 20-yard field goal with four seconds left to hand Dallas a 17-14 victory.

"It's nice to win one like that after losing on field goals," sighed Cowboy Coach Tom Landry, whose team had lost three games on last-second field goals. In fact, the Cardinals shaved Dallas 31-28 three weeks ago on a 31-yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 62 seconds left.

St. Louis at 7-1 is still two games ahead of Washington in the National Conference Eastern Division, but the Cardinals dropped more than just the ball game.

They lost stellar running back Terry Mercalf in the first half to a strained and bruised knee. The St. Louis offense wasn't the same without the slippery Metcalf in the game.

"When we lost Metcalf, it was like Dallas losing Calvin Hill and he is the Calvin Hill of our offense," said Cardinal Coach Don Coryell.

Metcalf said in the dressing room after the game "I doubt if I will be able to play next week."

The Cardinals meet Minnesota in the Monday night television game Nov. 11.

St. Louis Quarterback Jim Hart nailed tight end Jackie Smith with a touchdown pass for a 7-0 lead but Dallas tied it just before halftime on Robert Newhouse's two-yard run.

Hart connected with Mel Gray on a 10-yard touchdown pass to push St. Louis ahead 14-7 in the third period, but Dallas rallied again to tie it 14-all on Hill's two-yard gallop.

Then Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach whipped Dallas 71 yards to get position for Herrera's pressure field goal—only the second one he has made with the club.

Herrera said "Sure, I was neverous...You get nervous on every kick...Now, the fact that it's the last play of the game—that really makes you nervous."

The victory upped Dallas' record to 4-4 and kept the Cowboys, who have been in a record eight consecutive NFL playoffs, at least in the running for a wild card spot.

BASKETBALL TIPS
By Walt Frazier & Ira Berkow

(Last in a series)

You have to have control of the ball. If I don't have a good strong grip before I pass it, my ball will normally be intercepted or I'll throw the ball into the hands of the guy selling popcorn.

You should always make certain that the guy you're passing to is ready. If the ball is stolen it's always the passer's fault. Even if I hit a guy in the back, it's still the passer's fault because he threw the ball. If a guy's not looking, even though he should be looking it's still your fault. You should be in control and not throw the ball if it's not going to lead to something good. Just because the receiver is always supposed to be watching the ball doesn't mean he is.

Leading a man on a pass is not easy. It's all in judgment. If you can judge how far away a guy is you can pass to him. You want to throw it so that he can catch the ball without breaking stride.

You can practice passing to a certain extent. You can practice being a quarterback. You can improve, but you might never be great at it. It's just a talent that some guys have. Everybody can't be a pitcher, no matter how long or hard they practice. I think there's a knack involved that is instinct and is unexplainable. But you can practice against a wall. You throw to different spots. And you can practice passing with teammates. Always trying to develop a good rhythm, a good feel.

Mizzou faces Sooners

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri tries Saturday to stop Oklahoma in Big Eight Conference football.

If the Tigers, armed with a great runner in Tony Galbreath and a stout defense, fail, it appears the second-ranked Sooners won't have much trouble protecting their spotless record until at least Nov. 23 when they run into ninth-ranked Nebraska.

Missouri, a team noted for surprises, must battle Coach Barry Switzer's awesome charges on Sooner soil, and all of the Tigers' three losses this season have been away from home.

Both teams came awayw with victories last Saturday. Oklahoma, 3-1 in the conference, downed troublesome Iowa State 28-10, Missouri, 3-1, thrashed Kansas State 52-15, winning this one on the road.

The other big game Saturday sends Nebraska, 3-1, to Iowa State, 2-2. The highly-ragarded Huskers romped over Colorado 31-15 last weekend. The test with the Cyclones could be a tough one for Nebraska.

Oklahoma State, 2-1, invades Bdowntrodden Kansas State, 0-4, and Kansas, 1-3, journeys to Colorado, 1-3. The Cowboys should have little difficulty at K-State. They remained in the thick of championship contention last week by whipping Kansas 24-13 despite a Big Eight record 15 fumbles in a game played in a driving rain.

Oklahoma, unbeaten and untied, scored three third-quarter qouchdowns, two within a span of 25 seconds, to zbeat down the fired-up Cyclones, who held the Sooners far below their game average on offense and combed the Sooner defense for 335 yards.

Joe Washington, the Sooners' elusive runner, gained 86 yards on 14 carries and made one touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Steve Davis, who also connected for six points on a 33-yard pitch to Tinker Owens. Iowa State didn't score until the fourth period when Oklahoma fumbles set up all 10 points in the final minute, 39 seconds.

Missouri exploded for four touchdowns in the fourth quarter against the Wildcats. Galbreath, who chipped in with 194 yards on 32 rushes, tossed a 20-yard pass from his halfback slot to Mark Miller and scord once on a seven-yard romp. Steve Grogan, K-State's fine quarterback, made both of his team's TDs, one on a 22-yard pass from flanker John Tuttle and the other on a one-yard sneak.

Dave Humm's pinpoint passing, blended with clutch running by freshman Aark Anthony, highlighted the Huskers' verdict over the Buffs. Humm, who completed the first seven passes he threw, hit Larry Mushinskie with a five-yard touchdown pass and Don Wesbrook with a 16-yarder. Abnthony picked up 157 yards.

Oklahoma State's Charlie Weatherbie passed three yards to Ron Boyer for a Cowboy touchdown and ran two yards for another but it took two fumble recoveries by Darnell Meyers to cut off third-quarter rallies by the Jayhawks and save the game. Laverne Smith's 30-yard run gave Kansas a short-lived lead in the opening period. The Jayhawks didn't score again until the final period when Bruce Adams returneda punt 44 yards.

Doniphan crushes Rector

DONIPHAN — Rector Arkansas traveled to Doniphin Missouri and went home to defeat 38-0.

Doniphin quarterback Bill Jenkins passed for 169 yards,and halfback Steve Donnell had 157 yards rushing. In the first quarter Jenkins completed a 25 yard pass to End Dennis Ray for the first score. Jenkkins scored the two point conversion on an option play. Later in the quarter Dennis Cox scored on a 12 twelve dive play. Steve Donnell scored on a run wide for the two point extra point.

In the second quarter Jenkins again combined with Ray for a 26 yard pass play for the score. Point after missed. Half 22-0 Doniphin.

In the third quarter Steve Donnell put on a scoring show by scoring two touchdowns on six yard runs and also scored both two point conversions.. Doniphins total yards were 415. Final Doniphin 38, Rector Ark. 0.

SeMo loses, 28-27

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Carlton Hightower bolted three yards into the end zone with just five seconds remaining in the game Saturday and Steve Stokes then added the extra point, powering Northwest Missouri State past Southeast Missouri State, 28-27.

Hightower's scoring burst capped a 69-yard, 11-play Maryville drive that Cape appeared to have halted until a pass interference call gave the Bearcats a first down on the Southeast three-yard line.

Northwest is now 6-2 overall and 3-1 in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association race. Southeast is 4-4, 1-2.

The first place trophy went to the Jaycee team as they defeated the Daily Standard 20 - 0. In the other game the Bank of Sikeston finally won a game at the expense of National Lock, 13-6.

In the first game it was all Bank of Sikeston till the fourth quarter when Lock scored. In the first quarter Bank of Sikeston Fullback Tim McKinney scored on a twenty yard run off tackle. Point after missed. Half score BS 6 Nat Lock 0.

Bank of Sikeston's third quarter team was not to be denied as halfback Floyd Greer scored on a twenty yard run. Mike Sherman added the extra point. Lock's Moorman scored on a two yard run up the middle in the fourth quarter. EP missed. Final Bank of Sikeston 13 National Lock 6.

In the championship game it was all the Jaycee's game as they scored in three of the four quarters and held the Standard scoreless.

In the first quarter JC Ricky Leonard swept left end to the two. On the next play Buzz Ferrell scored on a sweep left. EP missed. Late in the quarter Lowell Batts of the JC's intercepted a Tope pass on Standards own twenty. JC's Ricky Leonard took a pass from his quarterback on the ten and scored. Mike Plaskie scored the point after. Standards Jeff Davidson made a spectacular catch of a Tope pass for forty yards to the two but the JC defense held and took over on downs. Half JC 13 DS0.

The Jaycee's scored one touchdown in the third quarter and had one called back. Jaycee's Buzz Ferrell scored on a quarterback keeper right and extra point made by Paul Freeman on a halfback sweep right. Final Jaycee's 20 Daily Standard 0.

After the game all players and parents were treated to enjoyed a barbecue dinner. Trophies were given for the most improved players on each team. Recipients were Chris Vincent Bank of Sikeston; Todd Barborek of National Lock; Lowell Batts of Jaycee's and Steve Leible of The Daily Standard.

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League traded defenseman Abdjojo$—NI!IFTHE Vancouver Canucks for defenseman Barry Wilkins.

HR King traded

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Much suspense surrounded the negotiations which led to the weekend trade that sent all-time home run champion Hank Aaron from the Atlanta Braves to the Milwaukee Brewers.

But outfielder Dave May, who made up the other half of the deal along with an unnamed minor league player, says he figured out what was going to happen before the season was over.

"You know baseball players," said May. "They put things togther. And when we heard Hank was interested in coming back to Milaukee, I felt sure I'd be the one to go."

"I expected to be traded right after the seaon was over," May added. "After all, I wasn't happy with the way I was being played, and one confrontation with Manager Del Crandall late in the year was enough."

May, who slumped to .226 with 10 home runs last season after batting .303 with 25 homers the year before, said he and fellow Brewer outfielder Johnny Briggs had joked about which one of them would be traded for Aaron. He said he was convinced he was right when he learned a Braves scout was following the club on its final road trip.

Aaron, meanwhile, was in Japan for a home run hitting contest with Japanese star Sadaharu Oh when the trade was announced late Saturday.

Aaron said money was not a factor in his going to Milwaukee, despite previous reports that he was unhappy with what Atlanta had offered him.

"Money has nothing to do with my going to the Brewers," said Aaron, who will be returning to the city in which he started his major league career.

"I'm going because I wanted to," Aaron said. "I look forward to working with the entire Brewers' organization. I am happy that the Atlanta Braves saw fit to work so closely with me to meet my request."

Aaron said he would like to be more than a designated hitter next year.

"I will do whatever I can to help the ball club," said baseball's all-time home run champion, who eclipsed Babe Ruth's career standard of 714 early last season and now has 733 homers for his career. "I wouldn't want to be purely a designated hitter."

Aaron, 40, who began his career with the Braves in Milwaukee in 1954, belted 20 home runs last year and batted .268.

Manager Del Crandall said he was thinking of using Aaron, with whom he had played with the Braves, primarily as a designated hitter, but added that he might be used in the outfield at times.

Brewer president Bud Selig said financial details of Aaron's pact would be worked out after he returns from Japan on Tuesday. Selig said an outline of the contract had been worked out, but nothing was in writing.

There have been reports that Aaron might become general manager of the Brewers after playing a year or two. Jim Wilson vacated the job this summer to head a scouting bureau. Selig, who had indicated during the World Series that such a move was a possibility, declined to speculate on it Sunday.

Hank shows power

TOKYO (AP) — Hank Aaron will head home Tuesday with a home run contest trophy which slightly bolsters his position as world home run king, and with an Atlanta uniform he is about to exchange for a Milwaukee baseball suit.

Aaron wore Atlanta Braves uniform No. 44 when he beat Japanese slugger Sadaharu Oh 10-9 in a home run contest Saturday before some 50,000 spectators and a national television audience in the United States.

Neither slugger considered the contest a decisive way to determine who is the world's best home run hitter, but both expressed happiness at the chance to compete on the same field.

Then came the news Sunday that Aaron had been traded to the Milwaukee Brewers, returning him to the city where he started the baseball career in which he has rapped out 733 home runs.

The 40-year-old star said he is thrilled to go back to Milwaukee, but added, "I don't know how many home runs I will hit with the Brewers — I make no prediction.

It is not likely he will hit enough to keep his record out of the reach of the 34-year-old Chinese-Japanese first baseman for Tokyo's Yomiuri Giants. Oh says he expects to play at least six more years, and reckons he will boost his total — now 634 — to 800 home runs in four or five years.

Aaron acknowledges that likelihood and expresses amazement at the power and timing of the slender-looking Oh, who raises his right leg high and lashes out with wrists made powerful by swinging a bamboo sword Samurai warrior style.

Oh hit nine out of 20 fair balls into the seats of Korakuen Stadium, at least 300 feet away, in Saturday's contest but Aaron hit 10 homers in 18 fair balls and then passed up his last two chances. Balls, strikes and fouls were not counted.

WHEN YOU SHOPLIFT...

you leave yourself wide open for arrest. It's not a pleasant experience and you can be sure it's one you'll never forget — because it'll be right there on the records, for keeps. Seems foolish, doesn't it, to risk your reputation, your future, and hurt the people you love, for an unimportant item that you can live without. You can live without the consequences of shoplifting, too. Be smart . . . when "friends" try to tell you that it's cool to steal . . . ask them what's so cool about getting busted.

Think Before You Shoplift!

It May Cost You More Than You're Willing To Pay

Country music show to feature western star

Tommy Scott's Family Funtime Country Music Show will feature cowboy movie star Sunset "Kit" Carson when it plays Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Sikeston.

Carson will appear with his wild west show at the Knights of Columbus sponsored show.

Carson, who was at one time number eight among the top 10 movie cowboys, got an early start as a top rodeo performer at the age of 12. His "specialty" events were bronc busting, bulldogging, calf roping, and trick riding. Carson won all- around champion cowboy of South America twice against the Argentine cowboys, considered to be some of the best in the world. He was 14 and 15- years- old at the time.

Sunset 'Kit' Carson

Carson has presented shows all over the world, many for charities and victims of natural disasters. He has completed more than 60 western films in his movie career.

Carson will perform a trick shooting exhibition in his wild west stage show. Appearing at Carson at the show will be other performers from Hollywood and Nashville. Proceeds from the show will be used to fund Knights of Columbus charity projects.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Pernicious anemia treatment

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have pernicious anemia and have been taking vitamin B-12 injections for the past two years. Got tired of going to the doctor for the injections, so I stopped going. When I went to him the other day he gave me a good scolding and told me how important it was to take these injections for the rest of my life.

Would you enlighten me on pernicious anemia? Is it serious? Really don't feel any better after taking these injections, only a black and blue arm. I'm an older women, so I'd like to know more about this blood condition that I must take injections the rest of my life for.

DEAR READER — Your doctor should have scolded you. You had better believe that pernicious anemia is serious. What happens is that you don't absorb vitamin B-12 from your food. You need this vitamin in the vital process of producing new body cells — which we all must do as long as we live. We destroy and replace millions of new red blood cells each minute. To make new red cells you need the B-12. If you don't have it, you don't form the new red blood cells and you get a severe anemia.

The lack of B-12 can cause changes in other cells in the body, even affecting the way the brain functions. There can be gradual changes in the important nerve cells in your spinal cord, leading to serious problems even in walking. So, weakness, changes in your brain and nerves, changes in your digestive system, and generalized serious problems can result. Some of these develop gradually, and you may not notice them until you have already caused serious damage. Be a good patient and get the most out of your doctor's good advice.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For a person who should eat liver occasionally but doesn't care for it, would you say that liver extract or liver pills would do just as well?

DEAR READER — Liver is a good food. It is a good source of iron and a number of important vitamins. It is also moderately high in cholesterol and for those needing to limit their cholesterol, which certainly includes most men, it should be eaten in small amounts, if at all.

There is nothing in liver you can't get from other good foods. The vitamin enrichment and mineral supplements of our foods provide a lot of our vitamin needs that would be met by liver. Recently it has been decided to increase the iron in bread and similar products. So, I'm not really impressed that a person who doesn't like liver has to eat it today to be sure they are getting all the vitamins or minerals they need.

You can use liver extract in pill form, and you will absorb it as long as your stomach generates a substance needed to absorb vitamin B-12.

ORDER BARES INDIGNATION

Senegal's leading newspaper, Le Soleil, said the Sydney city council showed disrespect for tradition by ordering "to put bras on girls which they would never have thought of wearing during a village dance."

What's the law?

The case of the sympathetic kid

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

While Jasper was a confirmed bachelor, he was an unconfirmed father. To achieve his reluctant confirmation, Ella took him to court where she insisted that during an evening of hanky-panky, Jasper had gotten her pregnant. And, she wanted him declared the father of her 2-year-old son.

What's more, to prove her contention Ella produced the child in court so that the jury could see the resemblance between father and son.

"Just look at them," she told the jury. "They couldn't look anymore alike if they were minted together at Fort Knox."

"She's gotta' be nuts," was Jasper's answer. "We don't look alike.

The kid doesn't even have a beard. What's more, it was totally imnproper for her to have brought the kid into court. While we don't look alike, circumstances can alter faces. And, a jury, sympathetic to a child, can see anything it wants to see."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you void the proceeding because the jury was permitted to view Ella's stympathetic child?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it is perfectly proper in a paternity suit to exhibit the child to the jury for the purpose of having them observe resemblances or lack of resemblances between the child and the alleged father.

While conceding that courts throughout the country differ on the subject, the judge concluded that it was unlikely that jurors would become so emotionally involved in the sympathies of the case that they would imagine likenesses that didn't exist.

Today in U. S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Nov. 4, the 308th day of 1974. There are 57 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected the 34th President of the United States. He defeated Democrat Adlai Stevenson for the first Republican presidential victory in 20 years.

On this date —

In 1520, King Christian II was crowned King of Sweden.

In 1825, the first boat to reach New York City by using the Erie Canal arrived nine days after leaving Buffalo.

In 1879, a patent for the cash register was granted to J. J. Ritty of Dayton, Ohio.

In 1884, Democrat Grover Cleveland was elected President.

In 1931, the League of Nations accused Japan of aggression in Manchuria.

In 1944, the World War Two allies announced that Greece had been completely liberated from the Nazis.

Ten years ago: The former Mayor of Saigon, Tran Van Huong, was installled as Premier of South Vietnam.

Five years ago: Two jetliners, one Nicaraguan and one Brazilian, were hijacked to Cuba.

One year ago: Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts became the first Republican Senator to publicly urge the resignation of President Nixon.

Thought for today: There is no wisdom save in truth — Martin Luther.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone to one of the voting booths provided, and shall prepare his ballot for voting in the following manner:

STRAIGHT TICKET

Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name.

SPLIT TICKET

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote.

Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group, a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark, unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name.

WRITE-INS

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle.

All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns. If two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form.

It is unlawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner or to erase any printed name (except as provided above in this section), figure, word or letter therefrom, or to erase any mark made thereon by the voter, or to enclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter defaces or tears a ballot, or wrongly marks the name or makes an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to a judge in charge of the ballots the one so defaced or wrongly marked. He shall at once mark and vote the ballot and the spoiled ballot shall be marked "void" in the voter's presence. A person who does not vote a ballot delivered to him shall, before leaving the polling place, return the unvoted ballot to the judges having charge of the ballots.

A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter places a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office, none of the candidates is deemed to have been voted for and the ballot shall not be counted for either candidate.

Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then deposit his ballot in the ballot box being used at that time and shall quit and leave the enclosed place as soon as possible.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friend:

Instead of writing my weekly letter, I send you today an editorial of October 21 from one of the nation's outstanding newspapers, the Columbia Daily Tribune.

This editorial sums up better than I could what is the most important problem in the world today; and therefore I submit it to you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Stuart Symington

INSTANT MASS ANNIHILATION

As important as Beef Prices?

While we all busy ourselves with less important things, the most significant circumstance of the day goes almost without notice. The press and the public worry over lesser things, sometimes with loud anguish, but we hardly ever take note of the insane, reckless nuclear armament situation which threatens to destroy us at any moment.

It is plainly a case of subconscious mental blocking on an international scale. And because of this war planners, particularly in the United States and the Soviet Union, move along a road of madness without significant opposition.

One voice of concern has been raised with more consistency than any other in the Congress, lonely though it may sound at most times. Stuart Symington, our Senator, has recently held hearings of a subcommittee he chairs called the military applications subcommittee of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. It was a rare open hearing on the subject, and there was testimony from a retired admiral, Gene R. LaRocque, who is now head of the Center for Defense Information, a private think tank. The information La Rocque gave is the same (though much more complete) we have personally heard Sen. Symington relate before. It is almost hard to believe, but it is true, without question, to wit:

-The U.S. has three times as many strategic nuclear weapons as the Soviet Union despite the impression that the Pentagon continually tries to leave in its requests for strategic weapons money.

-We have enough nuclear weapons to hit every Soviet city of morethan 100,000 population with 36 separate strikes. The Russians could do the same to every U. S. city of similar size over 11 separate times. This ridiculous overkill capacity does not stop the arms proliferation, however.

-Because of our superior weapons numbers we can destroy more individual targets in Russia than they can here.

-Nuclear arsenals in both countries have reached absurd levels. Ours alone measures 615,000 times the destructive power of the Hiroshima bomb.

-Both sides are violating the SALT agreement which states that both countries will take steps to limit and reduce their nuclear weapons. Since that 1972 pact the U.S. has added 2,190 weapons and the number is going up at a rate of about four per day. The Soviets have added 400 strategic nuclear weapons and are adding to their stockpile one a day. Since both sides can already kill each other several times over, what reason is there in this?

Indeed, even if the building of these hideous things could be stopped cold, what kind of tranquility will we have so long as the push of a button could literally wipe out an entire nation? And, need we be reminded, instead of stopping cold, the world keeps adding hardware and members to the club. South Africa is the latest, and that announcement came almost as routine. Ho-hum, there is another to go with the recent newcomers, India and Egypt. Ho-hum.

Perhaps Secretary Kissinger put it well when he said, ,,What in the name of God is strategic superiority: What is the significance of it politically, militarily, operationally, at these levels of numbers? What do you do with it?''

But having noted the stark irrationality of it all, the entire idea must have slipped again into Kissinger's subconscious. There is obviously no way that he has found to put these questions into practrice as he struggles with international relations. Having taken fleeting note, is he too obliged to look away?

It is too much beyond our coprehension — too fearful and unprecedented — for use in our human analytical process. Is this true? There is evidence that it is. If so, the problem cannot be solved, and the only way to stayy sane is not to think on it al all.

Which leaves the field to those who plan and build for our safety by going on and on and on ...

Tax exempt groups can get into a taxable situation

ST. LOUIS — Many organizations. being exempt, fail to understand that they can get into a taxable situation. In many of these, especially the smaller organizations where there is an annual change of officers, there is a lack of continuity and those responsible frequently are not aware of the problems the organization can have with taxes.

In order to provide some basic information for anyone who might serve in the capacity of treasurer or bookkeeper for an exempt organization, an agent with the exempt organization section of the Internal Revenue Service was interviewed.

The interview went like this:

Question: What are some types of tax exempt organizations?

Answer: There are social clubs that qualify, such as some motorcycle clubs, country clubs, sportsmen's clubs, etc; fraternal organizations such as Elks, Moose, Shriners, etc.; social welfare organizatinos, such as the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, PurpleHeart, certain areaa booster clubs, etc.; labor unions and trade associations; and, of course, churches, schools, hospitals, etc.

Question: Most of these organizations participate in various fund-raising activities. In the specific types of organization we mentionied, when would those activities create taxable income?

Answer: Social clubs dealing with the public or non-members will definitely create taxable income; for example, a bar or restaurant operation. Other organizations, such as fraternals or social welfare organizations, in dealing with the general public for profit, can get into a situation where taxable income is produced.

This probably will not jeopardize their exempt status unless it becomes a principal activity of the organization.

Question: What would be a situation where they produce taxable income?

Answer: Any time they produce what the law called "unrelated business income."

Question: What is unrelated business income;

Answer: It is generally income from any trade or business regularly carried on by the organizatini which is not related to the organization's exempt purposes.

Answer: No., the law makes an exception where substantially all of the work in carrying on the trade or business is performed by unpaid volunteers.

Question: Is this the only exception?

Answer: No, the organization can sell gifts it has received or some can dispense certain items which are related to exempt purposes.

Questiion: What are some examples of unrelated business income that have been found to be taxable?

Answer: Ticket sales, race tracks, snack bars, bingo — almost anything that is regularly carried on and unrelated to the organization's exempt purposes.

Question: Can you tell us some of the things Congress had in mind when they passed this law?

Answer: The law was passed by the 81st Congress back in 1950. At that time Sen. George Clmn of the Seante Finance Committee said: "The fundamental objective of the tax is to eliminate the unfair competition which exists when a tax exempt organization engages in competition with taxpaying business.".

Question: Do you mean this law has been effective since 1950 or 1951?

Answer: No. The law applied to some types of organizations until the Revenue Act of 1969, at which time it was expanded to include all exempt organizations.

Questions: How can someone responsible for and representing an exempt organization find out how the rules apply to his organization?

Answer: First, he should read instructions for Form 990-T, the tax return to report unrelated business income, which is available free from the IRS District Office.

If that does not give him all of his answers, he can phone the IRS, 342-1040 in St. Louis or dial the toll-free number, 800-392-4200, and ask for an exempt organization technician.

Poll shows Ford job rating approval up

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Ford's job rating has risen to 55 per cent approval, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The first Gallup survey after Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, taken Sept. 27-30, pegged Ford's approval rating at 50 per cent. That was the low point since Ford took office.

But in a survey conducted Oct. 18-21, after Ford's appearance before a congressional subcommittee to explain the pardon, the figure was back up to 55 per cent, with 28 per cent disapproving and 17 per cent giving undecided.

The Gallup organization said the increase came mainly from Republicans, who gave the President 75 per cent approval, compared with 65 per cent in September.

The Nixon pardon was most often cited by those disapproving of Ford's performance, a Gallup spokesman said.

Another survey also showed that public reaction against the Nixon pardon is mellowing.

Pollster Albert Sindlinger found 52.8 per cent disagreeing with the pardon in the week after Ford bestowed it on Sept. 8. But in the period between Oct. 19-28, Sindlinger found 32.5 per cent disagreeing. The number agreeing had climbed from 41.8 per cent to 51.4 per cent, he said.

The theft occurred sometime between 5 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 a.m. Sunday while the truck was parked at the Cletus Counts residence, 716 W. Cleveland St. in Charleston.

2 burglaries investigated

Dick Drerup, owner of Trader Dick's TV and Appliance, 100 East Main, reported to police Saturday that sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, someone broke a hole in a plate glass window on the west side of the store and removed a yellow 12-inch portable black and white television set.

Three quarts of motor oil were stolen from J.B. Ray's Service Station and Car Wash on Highway 162 east sometime Sunday night. A glass cutter had been used to cut a hole one foot in diameter in a front window.

Lakeville Lodge holds celebration

BELL CITY — Lakeville Lodge No. 489, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, at Bell City celebrated its 100th anniversary Sunday afternoon, with members (including some from out of state), former members and members of other area lodges attending the celebration at the Masonic Temple.

Gene Wheeler of Bell City, a past worshipful master of the lodge, acted as master of ceremonies in the absence of Worshipful Master Joe Hager. T The activities began with a "get acquainted" period, including organ music by Mrs. Roger Henson of Bell City, followed by the National Anthem, directed by The Rev. Roger Henson, who also gave the invocation.

Wheeler welcomed the guests and introduced distinguished guests.

Albert Elfrank of Advance, district deputy grand master of the 50th district and former member and past master of Lakeville Lodge, introduced the principal speaker of the afternoon, Most Worshipful Past Grand Master of Missouri Elivs A. Mooney of Bloomfield, and Harold O. Grauel of Cape Girardeau, most worshipful past grand master of Missouri who wao was serving in that office when the present temple was being built and was the speaker at the cornerstone ceremony and again at the dedication of the temple upon its completion in 1960.

The history of the lodgie was read by past master James DeLay, which stated the lodge was chartered at Lakeville, located one and one-half miles from where Advance is now located, in 1874 and was moved to Bell City in 1892.

According to the records, W. W. Nickols was the first worshipful master.

The building was a two-story frame building, with the first floor serving as a school room and church both General Baptist and Methodist, first on alternating Sundays and later on one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

The frame building served the lodge and Order of the Eastern Star until 1960, when a modern stone building was erected at a cost of $40,000.

The lodge, which has a present membership of 120, had on display during the afternoon some of its historical records, said to be among the best kept in the area.

The deed for the land on which the Masonic Hall was situated in Lakeville was ondisplay, a tract 75 by 176 feet purchased for $35.

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star Sapphire Chapter, under the direction of Worthy Matron Elsie Streeter, was in charge of the reception and decorated the dining room in fall color themes and served coffee, punch and homemade cookies to the guests.
